UNEMPLOYMENT IN AMERICA

Over Ten Million Still Out of Work

Washington, Nov. 26. Unemployment figures totalled 10,076,000 in October, according to Mr. William Green, President of the Federation of Labour. Average wages were .4 per cent. higher and the cost of living .5 per cent. higher than in September. —Reuter.

EUROPEAN INJURED

THROWN FROM A MOTOR-CYCLE

SWERVE TO AVOID DOG

Mr. B. S. Rogers, of Messrs. Lane Crawford, Ltd., suffered a nasty accident when he was thrown from a motor cycle in swerving to avoid a dog on the Castle Peak Road on Saturday afternoon.

It appears that he was on his way out to join the Motor Cycle Section, who were engaged in training manoeuvres at Castle Peak, when a dog ran across in front of his machine causing him to swerve and lose control of the cycle. Mr. Rogers was rather badly thrown and was later taken to the Kowloon Hospital, suffering from cuts and abrasions.

Mr. Rogers' injuries are not very serious and he will only be detained in hospital for two or three days.

TRIPLE BALKANS PACT

TURKISH EMISSARY IN BELGRADE

Belgrade, Nov. 26. In furtherance of recent negotiations for the consolidation of the Balkans bloc, the Turkish Foreign Minister has arrived here to sign a Pact of Friendship, Arbitration and Non-Aggression between Turkey and Yugoslavia.

A triple pact between Yugoslavia, Greece and Turkey is foreshadowed. —Reuter.

MARTIAL LAW ENDED

COMPLETE CALM IN BANGKOK

Martial law in Bangkok, declared upon the outbreak of the recent revolt which involved princes of the royal house, has been brought to an end. A special military court is now trying leaders of the uprising.

The election of Siam's first People's Assembly is proceeding calmly.

The P. and O. liner Carthage is due here from Singapore with the English mails at 7 a.m. on Thursday.

PLANE TOUCHES TELEGRAPH WIRES

DAMAGED IN RUSH LANDING

LIGHT ESCAPE

The Vicomte de Sibour had a narrow escape from serious accident in Kwangsi on Saturday.

His machine was slightly damaged and is now being repaired by members of the Kwangsi Air Force, who arrived by air from Wuchow yesterday morning, soon after news of the mishap had been received.

Only scanty details have reached the Colony, through H.M.S. Seawear at Wuchow.

It is not known whether any of the occupants of the machine were injured, though the absence of any news is taken to indicate that they escaped with little more than a shaking.

The accident occurred when the Vicomte de Sibour was leaving Lamming, Kwangsi, for Hongkong. It is understood that the plane touched some telegraph wires and was compelled to make a hurried descent, having sustained some damage. It is believed that the plane made a safe forced landing.

LOCAL MAN ON BOARD.

Mr. H. H. Pethick, of the Socony-Vacuum Corporation, Hongkong, and the Viscountess and her son, were with the Vicomte in the machine when the mishap occurred.

Later, it is understood that repairs have been effected and that the plane is expected to reach Wuchow at two o'clock this afternoon.

U.S. ADMIRAL'S VISIT

OFFICIAL CALLS MADE

Admiral F. B. Upham, C.-in-C. of the U.S. Asiatic Fleet, arrived here yesterday afternoon aboard the U.S.S. Isobel from Canton. Shortly after arrival he transferred to his flagship, U.S.S. Augusta.

At 8 a.m. to-day the Augusta fired a salute of 21 guns which was replied to from Blackheads Fort. This was followed by a salute for the C.-in-C. of the Chinese Squadron, His Excellency Admiral Sir Frederic C. Dreyer, K.C.B., C.B.E. The reply salute was fired from H.M.S. Suffolk.

Admiral Upham, accompanied by Capt. J. B. Agen, U. S. Navy, Lieut. Cmdr. C. J. Moore and Mr. Douglas Jenkin, Consul General for the United States, arrived at Government House at 10.54 this morning to pay an official call on His Excellency the Governor, Sir William Peel. He was received by a Guard of Honour from the 1st Bn. South Wales Borderers under Lieut. J. Jordan.

At 11.15 a.m. the Admiral paid an official call on His Excellency the G.O.C., Major General O. C. Borrett, at Flagstaff House, where he was met by a Guard of Honour under Major H. St. G. Thoyts.

His Excellency the Governor and H. E. the G. O. C. later returned to the calls.

The death occurred at Ripon on November 23rd of Mrs. Annie Ford, widow of Mr. Charles Ford, I.S.O., formerly of Hongkong, at the age of 84 years.

RIGHT USE OF POWER

Following the attacks by Professor Sprague, the Harvard expert, Professor Irving Fisher, noted Yale economist, has come out in defence of the Roosevelt administration's gold purchasing policy, declaring that it alone must not be held as the chief and only cause of the present period of uncertainty.

"Much has been said regarding the deterring effect of the gold policy on business and the price level," Fisher said in a statement to the United Press.

"The truth is, however, that before the policy began both business and the price level were fast going downhill, while since they have held their own and even improved slightly.

MUST NOT CONFUSE.

"We must not confuse the effects of the gold policy and the effects of other policies, such as the NRA, which temporarily has had a depressing effect on business and prices, because it requires higher costs before there is any return.

"We must also distinguish between price raising by monetary means, which is a right use of power, and raising prices by destroying cotton, hogs and other wealth. The latter will reduce the national income, while the former is merely restoring the monetary unit which has become overgrown, making it impossible for farmers and business men to pay their debts and conduct operations profitably."

President Roosevelt's gold policy has stimulated activity in gold shares and in the mines themselves. This picture was taken in the Transvaal where the most modern machinery is employed for the speedy unearthing of gold ore.

PIRATES' COUP

Over Ten Thousand Dollars in Cash

The total haul secured by the Bias Bay pirates as a result of their coup aboard the French steamer, Commandant Henri Riviere, has been officially placed at $13,293, of which a little over $10,000 was in cash.

STRIKE SETTLED

FATSHAN TO GO BACK ON RUN

The Telegraph learns that the long-drawn-out strike against Messrs. Butterfield and Swire in Canton has been definitely settled.

It is understood that the s.s. Fatshan will resume service on the Canton run on Thursday, and that the China Navigation Company's coastal steamers have already been given instructions to resume calling at Canton.

The terms of the agreement have not been officially disclosed, but it is stated that they provide for the reinstatement of dismissed employees.

MR. SMITH DISCHARGED FROM HOSPITAL

Inquiries at the Government Civil Hospital this morning revealed that Mr. Frank Smith, who collapsed outside St. John's Cathedral yesterday morning, was discharged from hospital to-day, having made a quick recovery.

Mr. Smith was waiting for the morning service when he collapsed and was taken to hospital in an unconscious condition.

MORE HINTS OF RED INFLUENCES

A LABOUR & PEASANTS' COMMISSION

FURTHER SUSPICION OF COMMUNISTIC TENDENCIES IN THE SO-CALLED PEOPLE'S PROVISIONAL GOVERNMENT IN FUKIEN FOLLOWS UPON NEWS FROM FOCHOW THAT MR. GEORGE HSU CHIEN HAS BEEN APPOINTED CHAIRMAN OF THE LABOUR AND PEASANTS' COMMISSION.

Against this are indications that the maximum freedom of speech is permitted in Fochow, the association of Admiral Sah Chen-ping, Fochow's idol, with the movement, and a clear statement by General Gaston Wong Keung at Amoy, denying the rumours of Communist influence or sympathy.

It is understood that forces are being sent from Hupeh to join in the anti-Red campaign, permitting Chiang Kai-shek to release some of his own troops for operations against Fukien should the necessity arise.

Shanghai messages state that twelve Chinese warships have left Shanghai and Nanking to set up a blockade of the Fukien coast.

RIVAL MANIFESTOES CIRCULATED

A free translation of part of a Handbill dropped from aeroplanes at Fochow reads as follows:—

Revolutionaries of the whole Country. The present crisis will decide the survival or extinction of the Chinese People.

Ever since the representative of militarists, profiteers, landlords, officials, and oppressors, Chiang Kai-shek, and his myrmidons look over the central authority, their policy for China has been in foreign affairs, to join up with imperialists and sell the interests of the nation, in domestic matters, to govern in a manner worthy of the Dark Ages, overriding the rights of the people.

The result is that the miseries of the Chinese People are unprecedented, and exceed the miseries of any oppressed people anywhere.

Since the worldwide financial depression set in, imperialistic encroachments have been increasingly apparent, and that, together with natural calamities and man-made troubles, has expedited the utter ruin of the financial system of the Country, and made the productive classes hopelessly wretched. The political corruption of Chiang and his crowd are too well known to need mention, but we will just set down the main points.

SUBMISSION TO JAPAN.

The one and only purpose of this arch-militarist is to ruin the people and secure his own position as agent of the Imperialists. So he uses the national funds to increase his own power, get rid of those who differ from him. Pretending to destroy bandits, he is really destroying the people. Pretending to strengthen the Central Government, he is really getting rid of his opponents. For proof we cite recent cases of civil war... and the most recent policy of submission to Japan is an even stronger proof.

That group of "compradores" with H. H. Kung and T. V. Soong at their centre, stands or falls with imperialism, and so their financial policy is to assist imperialism, prevent the expansion of Chinese productive industry, and so on, and Chiang is with them in adopting the British and American line of action, entirely for self-interest.

BLUE SHIRTS.

Others, such as Wang Ching-wai, Yeng Yung-tai, Huang Pi, Wu Chi-wai, and that crowd of opportunists, Chen Yueh-fu, Chen Li-fu, Ho Ch'ung-han, Fong Ti, and that crowd have either directly implicated themselves with Japanese imperialism in order to satisfy their lust for official rank, or else they have given free rein to their schemes and so destroyed the solidarity of the People, or they have employed their flying squadron, the Blue Shirt Association, to overthrow culture by terrorism. All these activities are under the control of Chiang Kai-shek, in order to carry out his policy of oppression.

NANKING'S "CRIMES".

It is the combination of these four groups that has brought about the present alarming crisis in China.

When the incident of Sept. 18 occurred, it is plain to see which members of the Central Government adopted the nonresistance attitude. It is perfectly clear why, when the XIXth Army put up such a gallant defence against Japan after Jan. 25 (1932), the Central Government did not give them one shell to help them, and secretly hindered them. The way in which Chiang's Nanking Government has destroyed the People's Movement to oppose Japan, has hindered the war against Japan at the Great Wall, has concluded the Tangu agreement, has borrowed 200 million dollars, has publicly capitulated to Japan, secretly carrying on direct negotiations, and concluding a secret Treaty for mutual tariff privileges... all this is obvious and irrefutable.

TRUE DEMOCRACY.

Hence all productive workers of China, whether working directly in industry or agriculture, or indirectly as merchants, students, or soldiers, must recognise that the financial progress of China is of supreme importance. Improved, the land tenure system must be reformed, all relics of feudalism must be got rid of. Then and only then can true democracy flourish. Chiang is the chief obstacle to democratic progress, and must first be overthrown.

NANKING MANIFESTOES.

Nanking, Nov. 26. In the manifestoes published yesterday, one to the Chinese people in general, and the other to the Fukien in particular, the Central Political Committee tersely condemn the Fukien secessionists, and appeal to the people to exercise sound judgment and to contribute what they can towards the maintenance of peace and order. In part the manifestoes run as follows:—

China is being harassed internally by communistic elements and externally by unscrupulous neighbours, and it is therefore in a state of extreme peril.

AUSTRIA'S PROGRESS

BROADER BASIS OF GOVERNMENT.

NO NEGOTIATIONS WITH GERMANY

Vienna, Nov. 27.

Rumours have been spreading recently suggesting that German emissaries are in Vienna negotiating for a settlement of Austro-German differences and the establishment of more friendly relations.

In the course of a speech last night, Dr. Dollfuss, Austria's diminutive Chancellor, denied the rumours, and declared that no negotiations were proceeding.

He said, however, that tension between Germany and Austria had recently smoothed down.

Another indication that no real rapprochement with Germany is intended in any sense which might be interpreted as opening the door to Anschluss, is provided by the invitation extended by Dr. Dollfuss to the ex-Vice-Chancellor, Herr Winkler, to come to Vienna.

This step, it is believed, foreshadows the broadening of the basis of the present Government. The invitation envisages the constitution of a Reconstruction Cabinet with the re-entry of the Agrarians. —Reuter.

THANKSGIVING DAY IN AMERICA

President Roosevelt's Proclamation

President Roosevelt has proclaimed November 30 as the annual Thanksgiving Day. In his message he says:—

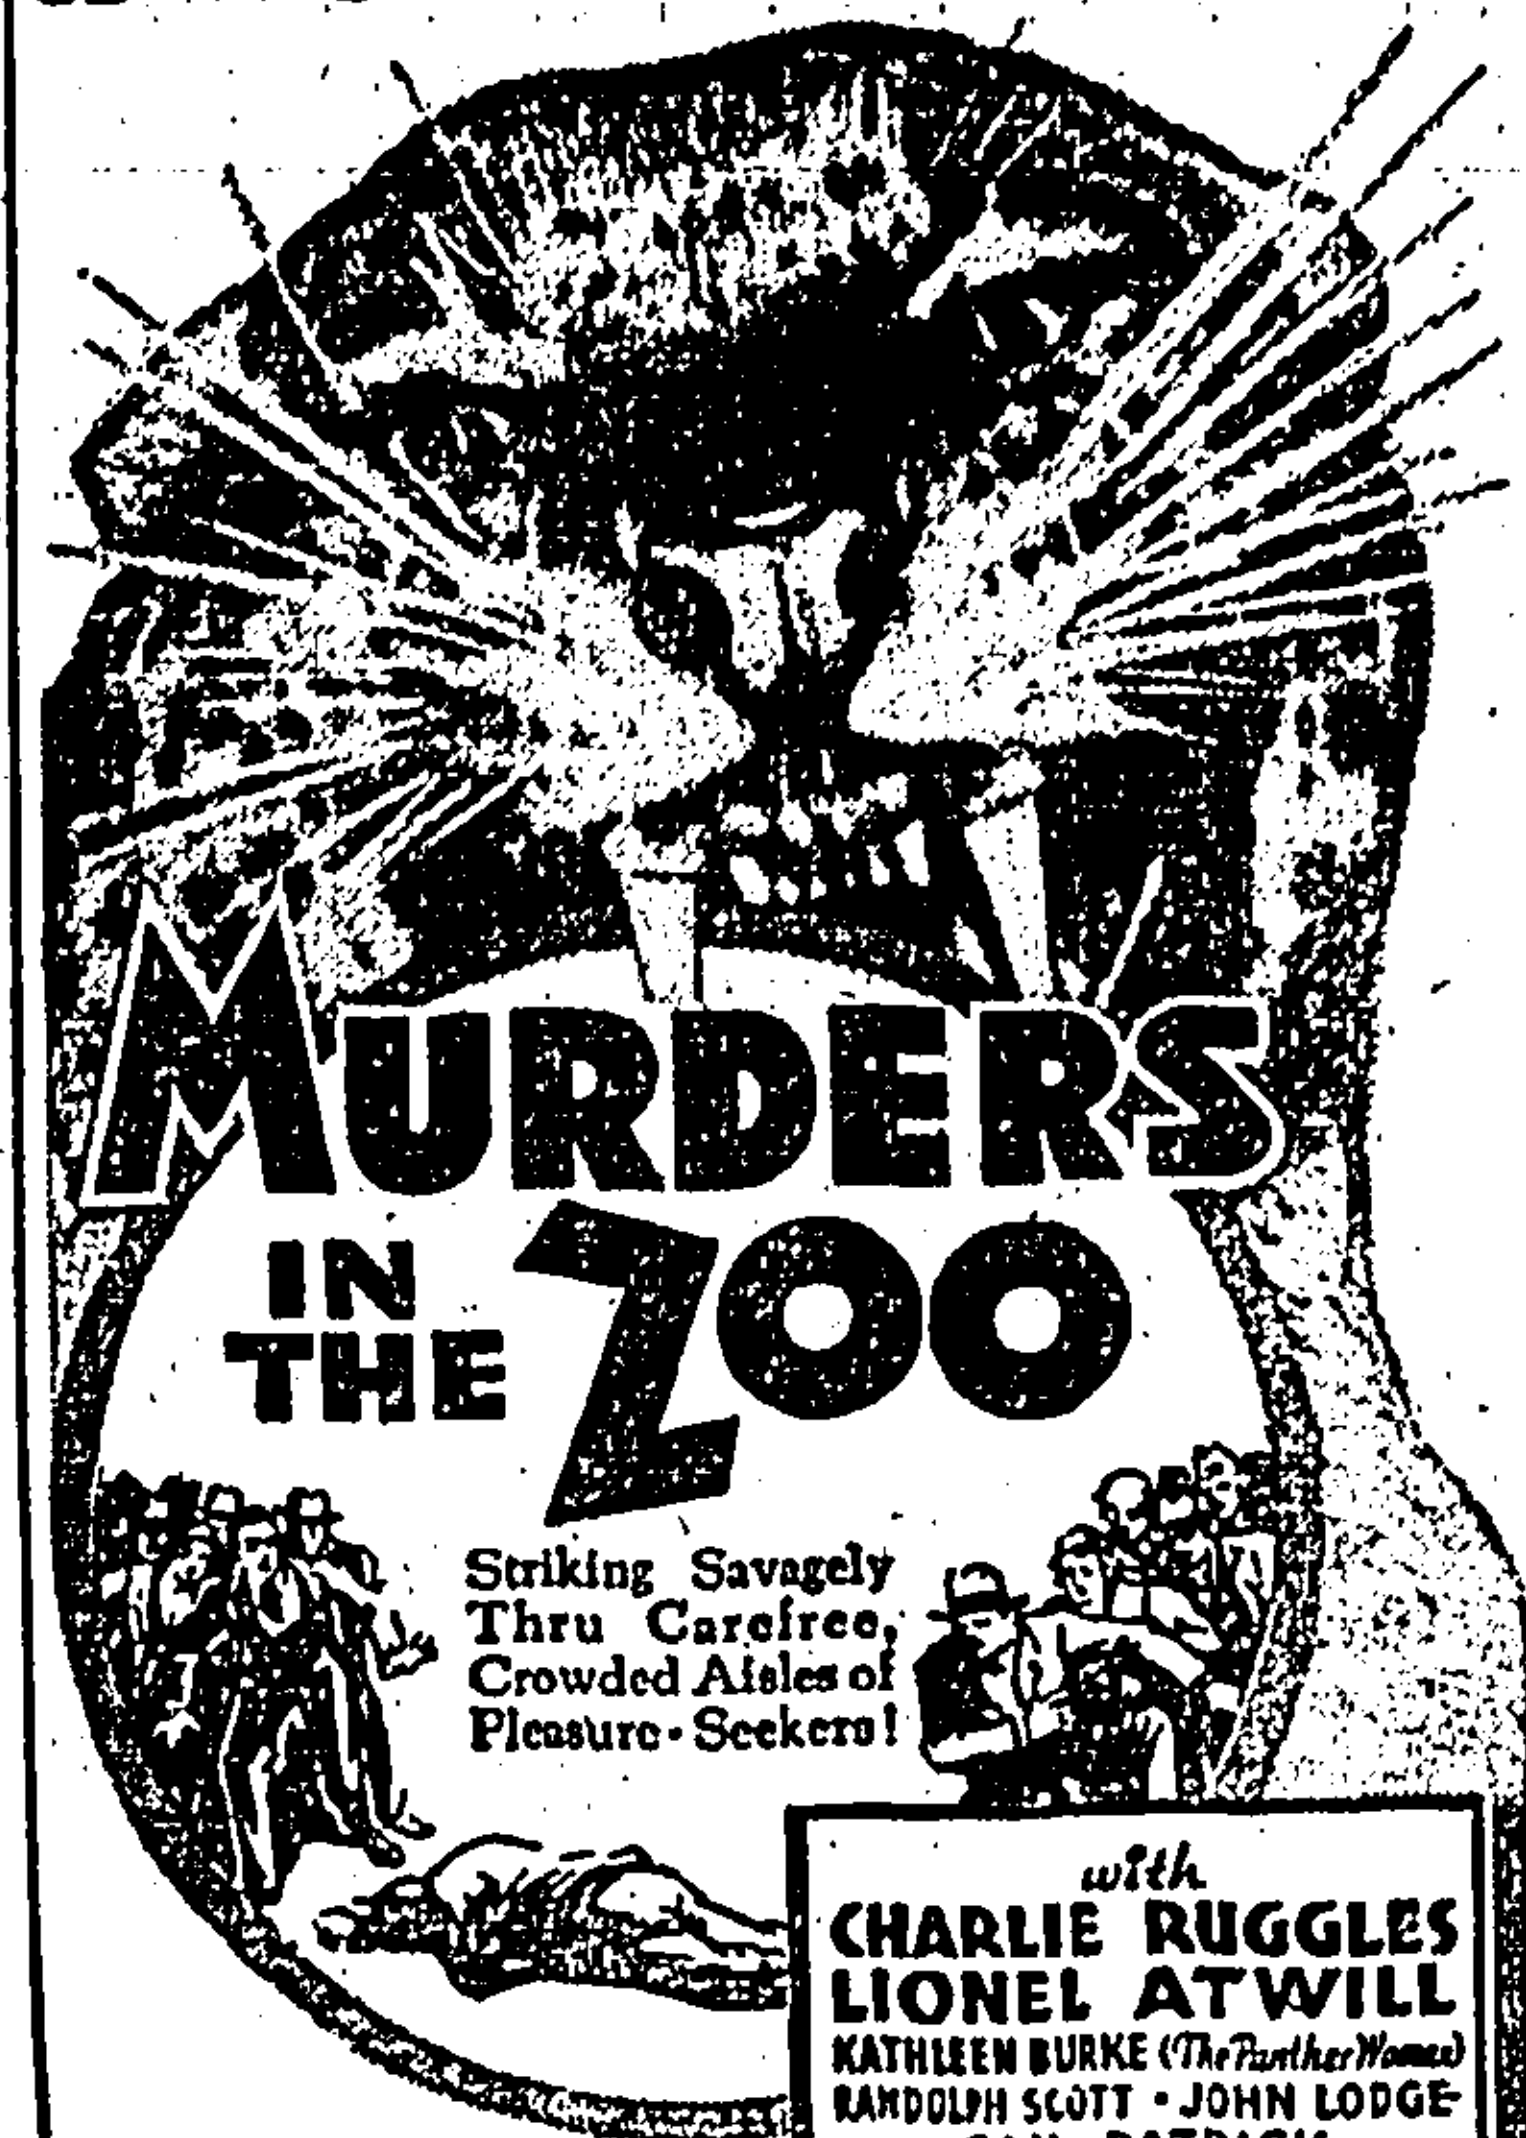

"May we be grateful for the passing of dark days, for the new spirit of dependence one on another, for closer unity of all parts of our wide land, for greater friendship between employers and those who toil, for clearer knowledge of nations that we seek no conquests and ask only for honorable engagements by all peoples to respect the lands and rights of their neighbours for a brighter day to which we can win through by seeking the help of God in a more unselfish striving for the common bettering of mankind."

There will be a dinner dance at Republic Bay Hotel on Saturday, December 2nd, and a tea dance on Sunday, December 3rd, at 4.00 p.m.

THE UNKNOWN BLONDE

BY LAURA LOU BROOKMAN

(All Rights Reserved.)

BEGIN HERE TO-DAY

DAVID BANNISTER returns from Hollywood to his former home, Tremont, for a rest. He is trying to forget ADELPHI ALLEN, film actress, who has killed him.

Bannister dines with JIM PAXTON, an old friend, now editor of the Tremont Post. Later he takes a cab to drive home. Passing the Shelby Arms, apartment hotel, a traffic light halts the cab. A girl comes out of the hotel, sees the cab and rushes toward it. When she sees Bannister she is embarrassed. He offers her the cab and she agrees to ride with him to her destination. The girl drops her handbag and Bannister sees that it contains a revolver. A few minutes later she leaves.

Next morning at breakfast Bannister reads that TRACY KING, orchestra leader in a movie theatre, has been found dead in his apartment at the Shelby Arms.

CHAPTER III

Kate Hewlett read the words aloud, shock and amazement in her voice. "TRACY KING, BAND LEADER, SLAIN IN HOTEL."

"It's terrible," she exclaimed. "Simply terrible. Oh, David—!"

He was not looking at the huge, black banner headline but at two lines of smaller type. "Unknown Blond Is Sought By Police," the lines read.

Bannister stared at the six words. Mrs. Hewlett went on, reading aloud:

"Tracy King, orchestra leader and master of ceremonies at the State theatre, was found dead from a bullet wound in his head in his apartment at the Shelby Arms hotel shortly after 11 o'clock last night."

Over her spectacles she eyed her nephew. "That's why he wasn't at the theatre!" she said excitedly. "My star! Think of that! The poor young man was lying dead all the time. Oh, but isn't this terrible!"

"Read the rest of it," Bannister said abruptly.

Mrs. Hewlett read on. "Police who believe King was the victim of a murderer are searching for an unknown blond woman, said to have visited the orchestra leader during the evening."

Again she looked up. "A woman!" she exclaimed. "What did I tell you about that fellow not being good enough for Denise Lang? Denise is a blond, too—"

The words trailed off and she continued reading: "Captain Oliver McNeal of the homicide squad said a detailed description of the woman's appearance is in the hands of the police and that she is certain to be apprehended within 24 hours."

"The bullet which caused King's death entered the left side of the head. There were no powder burns, eliminating the possibility of suicide. According to Coroner Charles J. Westwood, King had been dead more than an hour before the body was discovered. The body was found by Al Druggan, also a member of the orchestra, and J. A. Link, night clerk of the hotel. Druggan explained that he went to King's rooms to find out why the band leader had not appeared at the theatre for the 10:45 vaudeville performance. Unable to enter the apartment, which is on the third floor, he summoned Link and together they entered the three-room suite.

"King's body" was found lying on the floor of the bedroom. He was fully dressed. There were no signs that a struggle had taken place but a desk in the living room had evidently been rifled. Two of the desk drawers had been pulled out and their contents was in a disordered state.

"Occupants of nearby suites, when questioned, said they had not heard the shot. Mrs. Lucian Fraser, who occupies the suite directly across the hall from King's, said that her radio had been turned on most of the evening and that part of the programme was a drama of underworld warfare. Mrs. Fraser said she might have heard the report of the gun that killed the orchestra leader and thought it was a part of the radio drama."

"C. A. Nelson, living directly above King's apartment, reported that he reached home about 10:30 and had heard no sounds of any sort from the rooms below."

"Two employees of the hotel are said to have given police descriptions of King's mysterious feminine visitor but that description has been withheld from publication. The employees said they saw the woman enter the building but did not see her leave."

"A. B. Kauffman, manager of the State theatre, could ascribe no possible motive for the crime. King's absence last night, he said, was the first time the orchestra leader had missed a performance. During the 10 months in which King was employed at the theatre he had become widely known in musical circles of the city. His engagement to Miss Denise Lang, daughter of Arthur J. Lang, 4862 Sheridan Road, was announced last week.

The marriage was to have been an important social event of the Christmas season.

"Miss Lang, when informed of her fiancé's death, became prostrated."

"I should think she would!" Kate Hewlett interrupted herself matter-of-factly. "That's a silly thing to print. I should think any girl would become prostrated to hear that the young man she was engaged to had been shot and killed. And to think it was by another woman! What did I tell you, David Bannister?"

It was an exclamation, not a question. Bannister did not answer. He was turned away and was looking out through the crisp, white ruffled curtains at the maple trees, almost shorn of their foliage, at the smoothly cut lawn. Last night's rain had brought down many of the yellow leaves. They lay in a scattered, irregular pattern, still wet and glistening in the sunshine.

It was a morning serene and cloudless but, instead of the blue sky and golden sunshine, David Bannister saw dark, drizzling fog. He saw a pair of wide set gray eyes in a white, girlish face—half-hidden in the depths of a taxicab; lips that moved tremulously; a small gleaming revolver in the woman's handbag.

Good God, no—it couldn't be! That girl was no murderess. She looked more as though someone had tried to murder her. Frightened within an inch of her life, he had decided, seeing her clearly for that moment just before she disappeared into the hotel.

There was a point, too! Would any woman who had just killed a man walk calmly into the largest hotel in town? She might as well have called at police headquarters and said "Arrest me!"

But there was the headline—"Unknown Blond Is Sought By Police." He could not shake the words from his mind. She was blond. She had come out of the Shelby Arms some time after nine o'clock. She had carried a revolver in her handbag.

"Oh—sorry, Aunt Kate!" Bannister's voice was apologetic. "I'm afraid I wasn't listening. What did you say?"

"No, I should think you weren't listening! I asked if that was Harvey Knowlton who just went past. Was it?"

Bannister grinned. "Aunt Kate, I haven't the faintest idea who Harvey Knowlton is or what he looks like."

"On, isn't it right?" The woman was mollified. "I guess they did move in after you left." She turned back to the newspaper. "Look," she said, "here's a picture of Denise Lang. And here's another of her with Tracy King—"

Bannister crossed the room and inspected the photographs. The face of the pretty, fair-haired girl who smiled up at him was one he had never seen before. The picture taken with King was a news photograph, showing the couple as they sat watching a tennis match. There was another photograph of King, probably made for the occasion. It showed him as a slender dark-haired and rather handsome youth.

"He was real good-looking, wasn't he?" Kate Hewlett conceded. "I suppose that's why Denise Lang wanted to marry him—"

Bannister picked up the new paper. There was more of the account of the Tracy King murder, but the rest was made up of rather inconsequential details. An attempt was underway to trace fingerprints. Police Chief Henley had given out a statement: There were interviews with Link, the hotel clerk, and with a switchboard operator. There was a review of King's career as a musician.

Bannister read it all through hastily, then tossed the newspaper aside. His aunt had begun stacking up the breakfast dishes, getting ready to take them to the kitchen. "Think I'll take a walk downtown," Bannister said casually. "It's fine morning—"

"It's all of two miles down to Broad street," his aunt warned. "Exercise will do me good," he told her.

By 11 o'clock that morning David Bannister was still wrestling with his problem. The walk down town had in no wise eased his mind. He could, of course, stroll over to Central headquarters and say to Captain McNeal, "I think I can identify your unknown blond murderess. I think I saw the weapon she used and helped her escape. Think I know the time of the murder—"

He could tell McNeal the story, and he was certain that, as an aggressive, thoroughgoing police official, the captain would pounce upon it as first-hand testimony.

Bannister could say, "I left her at the Tremont some time before 10 o'clock—"

Only he couldn't. He remembered that look in the girl's eyes and knew he couldn't do that. He didn't even know her name but he couldn't believe that she had killed a man.

Years of newspaper experience smothered him. "The hardest ones always look the softest."

Even then he couldn't do it. The devil of it was that the problem was getting on his nerves! He wanted to forget the whole thing but he couldn't do that either.

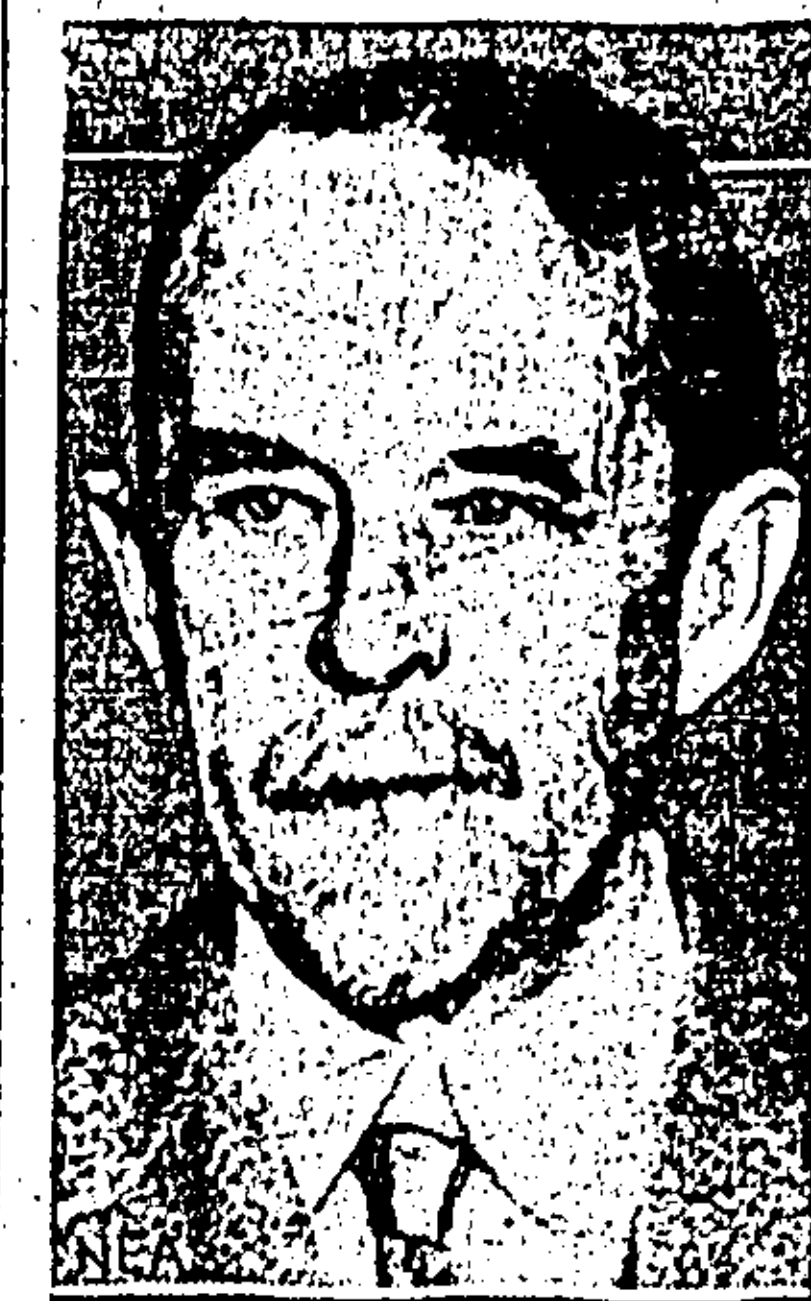

"Damn!" Bannister swore vehemently and decided to buy a New York newspaper. He'd find something to read that wasn't plastered all over with details of Tremont's latest crime.

There was only one place in the city to buy a New York newspaper—the news counter in the Tremont. Bannister went there, threw down coin and picked up the newspaper.

He hesitated, then, started toward the writing room. He had crossed a short passageway that was rather dimly lighted. Bannister took a dozen steps forward and stopped.

Just ahead, directly facing him, the girl of the taxi ride—the girl in the green suit!

The force with which the British steamer Silverpalm struck the U.S. cruiser Chicago is graphically shown in the above photo, taken after the light cruiser had limped into San Francisco. The hole in the side is 40 feet wide, and nearly halfway through the hull.

While the British freighter Silverpalm hit the U. S. S. Chicago bow-on in their collision in fog 100 miles south of San Francisco, the freighter also received damage. Photo shows the prow of the Silverpalm, smashed back several feet by the impact that drove her half through the Chicago.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that an Extraordinary General Meeting of the above Company will be held at the Board Room of the Company, Exchange Building, (Second floor), Des Voeux Road Central, Victoria, Hongkong, on Tuesday, the 28th day of November, 1933, at 12 Noon when the subjoined Resolutions will be proposed as Special Resolutions, viz:—

(1) That the present authorised Capital of the Company of $5,000,000 divided into 500, 000 shares (hereinafter referred to as "old shares") of the nominal value of $10 each, the whole of which have been issued, be increased to $7,500,000 by the creation of 250,000 new shares of the nominal value of $10 each ranking as for dividend as hereinafter mentioned and in all other respects pari passu with the old shares constituting the Company's present issued capital.

(2) That the said 250,000 new shares be offered forthwith in the first instance (in the proportion of one new share for every complete number of two old shares held by them respectively) to the members of the Company who on the 28th day of November 1933, are registered in the Company's Share Register as the holders of the said 500,000 old shares at par and so that on acceptance of such offer the sum of $2.50 per share shall be due and payable leaving the balance due on each of such said new shares of $7.50 per share to be called up at such time or times as the Directors of the Company shall see fit to make Calls in respect thereof and so that such new shares so accepted as aforesaid shall rank for dividend as from First day of January, 1934.

And that such offer be made by notice specifying the number of shares to which the member is entitled, and limiting a time within which the offer, if not accepted by the member on behalf of himself or his nominee, will be deemed to be declined, and that the Directors be at liberty to fix such time or times and to extend such time or times to such date or dates, and upon such terms as they may think fit. And further that any of the said new 250,000 shares which shall not be taken by the Company's shareholders in manner aforesaid be disposed of in such manner at such time or times and upon such terms as the Company's Directors shall in their absolute discretion think fit.

(3) That no shareholder shall be entitled to any offer of a fraction of an additional new share in respect of any odd old share held by such shareholder.

The Transfer Books of the Company will be closed from the 26th
 November 1933, to 28th November 1933, (both days inclusive) during which period no transfer of shares can be registered.

BANKRUPTCY CASES.

ABSCONDING DEBTOR TO BE BROUGHT BACK

The adjourned petition of Mak Yuk-tong, who was represented by Mr. F. H. Loseby, resumed at the Bankruptcy Court on Saturday, was adjourned for a further month to enable debtor to raise the $200 which would bring his assets up to the required amount.

Mr. F. E. Nash on behalf of the Chung Wo Firm, applied for an adjournment of the hearing of petition, which was granted.

A Chinese woman, Chung Fuk-tong alias Hing Hop-tong, gave evidence that the Chun Loong bank owed her $10,000 deposited money. A receiving order was made against the bank. No reply was received when the name of Chuwa Yoko was called in connexion with the adjourned public examination. The manager appeared later and the case was adjourned to next month.

Excelsior Restaurant.

The adjourned public examination of Puan Chund, carrying on business as the Excelsior Restaurant, was closed, no further evidence being taken.

When the public examination of the Tak Wo Pawnshop and Chan Po Sung, partner, was continued, evidence was given that a former accountant of the bank, who was now living at Canton, had destroyed the books of the firm. His Lordship adjourned the hearing until to-day.

To enable the Official Receiver to take out a warrant against the absconding debtor, the public examination of the Sia Fung Pawnshop was further adjourned.

Silk Stores.

Verhonal Rupchand, trading as the Kohinoor Silk Store and as the Royal Silk Store, appeared on his adjourned public examination and applied for the annulment of the adjudication order. Mr. F. X. D'Almeida, s.r., stated that the debtor's assets were discovered to be $3,000 instead of $4,500 and he could not now be expected to pay 15 per cent. The order was annulled.

Mr. J. T. Prior appeared for the petitioning creditor when the petition of the Kwan Tye firm was continued. C. C. Chan, managing partner of the Central Trading firm, said the debtor owed them $2,000. He had heard from a son that the debtor's assets were $20,000 and their liabilities $60,000. A receiving order was made against the firm.

Conditional Discharge.

William Frederick Gardner was granted his discharge from bankruptcy by the Chief Justice, Mr. J. R. Wood, subject to conditions of the report of the Official Receiver. A receiving order was made against Gardner in May last year when his address was given as 438, Nathan Road.

"SHE NEEDS RESPIROIDS!"

The New Treatment For

Sore Throat.

There are many remedies for sore throat but none to surpass Respiroids, the cure which goes direct to the seat of the trouble. At the first signs of soreness slip a Respiroid lozenge into the mouth and allow it to dissolve slowly. Thus highly antiseptic and curative vapours are released which find their way through the wind pipe to the lungs, quickly dispelling the germs, whilst the saliva impregnated with curative elements gently flows down the throat, soothing the affected parts. For sure speedy relief for affections of the throat and the respiratory organs use Respiroids, the new inhalant cough remedy. Obtainable at all medicine dealers, or at $1.20 per bottle, post free, from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., 461, Klangee Road, Shanghai.

RESPIROIDS
THROAT AND LUNGS

A CHINESE NURSE'S TRAGIC DEATH.

DISCOVERY MADE AT THE VICTORIA HOSPITAL

Depression caused by sickness and bad news from home is believed to have led Miss Jessie Anne Shum, a young Chinese probationer nurse on the staff of the Government Civil Hospital, to take her life by cutting her throat with some sharp instrument.

The tragic affair occurred at the Victoria Hospital where Miss Shum (also known as Miss Shum Tse-ying) was recuperating from an attack of fever which had caused her transfer a week previously from the Government Civil Hospital. Bleeding freely from a severe gash, she was discovered in her room in an unconscious condition a few minutes before 5 o'clock yesterday morning, and died shortly afterwards.

A letter was left behind, written in Chinese by Miss Shum, and in which it is said she set out her reasons for taking her life. She was last seen alive by a woman relative who visited her late the previous night, presumably with news from her family at Shanghai.

Miss Shum was only 22 years of age. The funeral is to take place at the Chinese Christian cemetery, Pokfulam, at 5 p.m. to-day.

In Singapore, on December 10, East of Karachi the proposed service will be run by Imperial Airways in conjunction with Indian Trans-continental Airways, Ltd.

LANCASHIRE AND JAPAN

The British Government's attitude in regard to alleged Japanese dumping, that it is better that an agreement be reached between the industrialists of the two countries than that it should be attempted by official intervention, will command fairly widespread approval. Suggestions of retaliatory action by rescission of the commercial treaties between Britain and Japan are not helpful. Such action would only tend to aggravate the situation by raising antagonisms which it were better to avoid. The Simla conversations between Japan and India have apparently been satisfactory, and there is no reason why some sort of understanding cannot be reached as between the industrialists of Lancashire and Japan. At any rate, the attempt is well worth making. If it fails, the position can be reconsidered afresh. It will be time then to talk of other measures. Whilst there cannot be any question of the seriousness of Japanese competition with British products, it has been stated that the greater bulk of Japan's export trade is conducted on a profitable basis. If this is so, then the term "dumping" would seem to call for revision. One of the chief factors in Japan's successful invasion of overseas markets is undoubtedly her low cost of labour. Tariffs cannot wholly overcome the disparity in prices, so that, short of an absolute embargo, which is most inadvisable from many standpoints, it is difficult to see what can be done except by some sort of mutual agreement between the interests affected. So far as Lancashire is concerned, the troubles of the cotton industry are not entirely due to Japanese competition. Though it is highly localised, it is probably true to say that there is no trade in England which is so divided into sections as the Lancashire textile industry, and there is none in which there is more duplication, overlapping and waste. Cotton, like other industries, must regard itself as a unit. The buying of raw cotton, spinning,

NOTES OF THE DAY

A NEW PHASE

Anyone who has studied the American reaction to the Roosevelt recovery programme cannot have failed to notice that the United States has recently passed from the first phase of this experiment into the second. The first phase was the era of unanimous public approval. Few understood exactly what was going on, but could see that some definite action was being taken, and liked the idea. There were no dissenting votes. Everything that was done drew a round of cheers. Now things are different. Criticism has begun and is getting stronger daily. The various acts of the recovery programme are being submitted to searching analysis, and those who believe they see defects are not slow in calling attention to them.

CRITICISM CERTAIN

It would be a mistake to assume that this criticism proceeds solely from those who have private axes to grind. There is some sniping going on, of course; yet that in itself is not enough to explain the change in the public's attitude. Evidently the Americans simply have come to the end of the period in which their one wish is to see "action and action now." It was impossible to go on cheering for ever over the fact that the administration had recovered from an attack of paralysis. The time had to come for the bringing of critical faculties to life.

GOOD FOR ROOSEVELT

This is bound to be a good thing for the Roosevelt administration. No government can give its best if there is a complete and continued absence of criticism. If its every act is hailed as a masterpiece of wisdom, it sooner or later will become like an engine without a flywheel. Perhaps the best thing that could have happened to the recovery programme as a whole is the fact that people now are ready to speak their minds at the moment they see a flaw in it. The gold policy is so full of holes that criticism is bound to be concentrated upon it. One after another, leaders are assaulting it, and using effective weapons. Already there has arisen as a direct result talk of early stabilisation of the dollar. If it comes off, it will afford convincing proof of the value of America's changed outlook.

BIG BAD WOLF

One of the pleasantest things about the world to-day is the fact that at a time like this, when history is being made by wholesale and signs and portents are crossing the sky so fast that they tread on one another's heels, it can devote itself wholeheartedly to a little song about a big bad wolf. The song itself is the simplest. It points no moral, and, if it adorns a tale, the tale is nothing but a moving picture version of an old nursery fable. But somehow everybody is going for it, whistling it, humming it, grinning fondly over the memory of a couple of pink porkers dancing across a coloured celluloid landscape. There is, in fact, only one disturbing thought in connexion with it; the thought that presently the highbrow critics will "discover" it, and will write erudite articles for the reviews telling about the "significance" of these cartoon comedies, discussing their artistic value, and using a lot of four-syllable words to say what the ordinary picture-goer already knows—that these things are a lot of fun, and clever as the dickens.

manufacturing and the selling of the finished products, are all parts of an organised industry. The great need is for some central authority which will control the general policy of the trade—adjusting its internal relations and organising its resources for more efficient production and marketing. The present difficulties make re-organisation imperative and urgent. Wise steps in this direction, coupled with a willingness to enter into friendly conversations with Japan's industrialists, should go at least part of the way in bringing about a more satisfactory state of affairs.

"BILL" BULLITT

MYSTERY MAN OF AMERICAN DIPLOMACY: AMBASSADOR TO RUSSIA

Mr. William Bullitt, new American Ambassador to Russia, is the mystery man of American diplomacy.

Just as President Wilson and Colonel House dispatched him on a secret mission to Russia nearly 15 years ago to negotiate with the Soviet government, so President Roosevelt employed Mr. Bullitt in the secret preliminaries to the public exchanges of notes with Mr. Kallinin.

On the surface, Pres. Roosevelt merely sent Kallinin a nice letter and Kallinin replied in kind, agreeing to send M. Litvinoff to Washington for conversations.

But things never happen that way in international diplomacy. First, you sound out the other fellow confidentially to arrange the official exchange. Roosevelt sent an emissary to Boris E. Skvirsky, Russia's representative in Washington.

Official confirmation conspicuously is lacking, but the emissary is almost certain to have been Mr. William C. Bullitt, Special Assistant to the Secretary of State.

He is a tall, solidly-built, bald, zesty individual of 42, twice married and twice divorced.

He used to be a newspaperman. He comes from Rittenhouse Square in Philadelphia, and made Phi Beta Kappa at Yale. He wrote and talked cleverly, and went on the staff of a Philadelphia newspaper. He was one of the voyagers on Henry Ford's Peace Ship in 1915.

Then he married Ernesta Drinker, a college president's daughter, and spent an odd honeymoon behind the Russian and French fronts with German troops. When America entered the war, he was made an aide to the State Department as an expert on Central European affairs.

When President Wilson sailed for Paris on the George Washington to help make the peace that was to create a new world, Bullitt went along as a member of the American Peace Commission.

SECRET MISSION SENT TO SOUND RUSSIANS

During the making of the peace, Wilson and Lloyd George hoped to include some understanding with Russia. But as the Allies weren't speaking to the new Russian government at the time, it seemed necessary to send ahead a secret and unofficial mission to sound out Lenin.

The idea apparently was that, armed with a provisional arrangement, Wilson and Lloyd George could finesse France into agreeing. Bullitt, Lincoln Steffens, and others made up the unofficial mission.

They made their way into Russia, something of a trick in those days. A strange peace mission, with Bullitt, Lynch, and a guide named Kill. Arriving in the dark, deserted streets of Petrograd, they met Tchicherin and Litvinoff and went on to Moscow.

There Bullitt tactfully steered his way to a tentative agreement with Lenin, and the mission returned in serious mood to Paris. But the French, meanwhile, had wind of the mission, and were very sore, feeling that things were being done behind their back.

So Mr. Lloyd George utterly repudiated Bullitt, saying he "knew nothing of a journey some boys were reported to have made to Russia." Pres. Wilson refused to see Steffens when he appealed on Mr. Bullitt's behalf.

The Bullitt proposals, including recognition of the Soviet government, went into the waste paper basket.

Bullitt, in bitterness, resigned from the American commission, as did several other younger members, when the final terms of the Versailles Treaty came out. He publicly denounced the Polish Corridor and reparations provisions which have, incidentally, caused trouble ever since.

Said he: "I am going to the Riviera, lie on the sand, kick my heels in the air, and let the world go to hell." So he did, and it did.

But by September Bullitt was back in Washington, making a full report to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee on his trip to Russia and his observations on the making and terms of the peace treaty.

HELPS WILSON'S FOES TO COMBAT LEAGUE

And thus it was, Wilson's own man, Bullitt, who furnished a good part of the ammunition which the Republican senators—a "little group of willful men"—used in shooting full of holes both the peace treaty and the League of Nations.

Bullitt was divorced, and married Ann Moon Louise Bryant Reed, widow of Harvard Jack Reed, who went to Russia for American radical papers to write the revolution and remained to join it and be buried with honour by the Bolsheviks in the Kremlin wall.

They were divorced in 1930. Bullitt has spent the last 10 years rattling around Europe, renewing contacts there, writing a satirical novel, "It Isn't Done," and establishing a home at Ashfield, Mass.

He knew Franklin D. Roosevelt during the war, and came out in his support during the last campaign, working for the New York headquarters of the Democratic National Committee.

SUSPICIONS AROUSED BY EUROPEAN TOUR

Last January, Bullitt bobbed up again in Europe, and the U. S. Senate rang with cries that he was representing President-Elect Roosevelt and spreading debt-cancellation propaganda throughout Europe.

What he probably was doing was finding out how European countries liked their relations with Russia.

Roosevelt flatly denied that Bullitt was in any way representing the president-elect, and Bullitt swore he was just travelling around, meeting old friends, and writing a book on diplomacy, which he should be well qualified to do.

But on his return, Bullitt was given a post at the State Department, and is now U.S. Ambassador to Moscow.

The Very Idea!

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

By Eddie "Alibi" Kelly

TALK about calling a spade a spade. If we start using that language we should soon be had up for libel.

There's some people you just can't call by their right name—they'd be offended and passers-by would be offended.

What we're getting at is this matter of alibis. Our friends, the Chinese, have got the system worked out to perfection but we think we aren't so bad ourself.

When a girl rings up the office and asks for Jack we've only got to think a minute and we know which girl it is. If she asks for Henry we've got her name pat but if she asks for Ed. Kelly we're out without a doubt.

On the same principle we know if a bill comes in signed by "Ed Kelly" we only have to go round the small circle of people who know our identity to find out who perpetrated the fraud.

Of course there are some names we don't answer to in any circumstances. When the Editor calls out "Here you—fool!" we make him repeat it three times before we move. What makes him mad is when we say "Are you referring to us?" in a sort of superior tone that makes him feel he may be mistaken after all.

When we signed our contract and went down the line we really thought that what the papers said was true. We expected to meet lots of the coves whose names fill up the various pages. But did we? Did we, heck!

We had a reader come in the other day who had followed one of the racing forecasts and had paid for his experience. He was one and half month's salary ahead or his pocket money and wanted to tell "Surething" a few more.

Well, he goes up to the horserat looking individual in the office and says "Look here, my man, do you know anything about racing?"

"Oh no, Sir," says the individual in a kind of high voice, "I look after the Lady's Page."

The fellow looks at him suspiciously and says, "Oh yeah???" in a nasty way.

"Sure thing," says the individual, blushing a little.

The man with the grievance waits till another fellow comes in to the office and he goes up and asks him his name.

It was only after he had interviewed "Per-gauge," been snapped at by "Ace" and had been told that "The Spectator" was out and that "Pilgrim" and "Veritas" had absconded that he gave in.

As he was going out some helpful chap met him at the doorway and asked him if he wanted to see anybody. "Nerts!" says the man with a grievance, and makes to get away.

"Wait a minute, perhaps I can help you," says the helpful one. "I write the agricultural notes."

The chap was so upset that he fell down the steps and had to be helped out by "Leg-break."

When his groans had died away in the distance, the Editor crawled out from under his desk.

"I shall have to get a fresh name, now," he grumbled.

MISTAKES

When a garage man makes a mistake, he adds it to your bill.

When a carpenter makes a mistake, it's just what he expected.

When a preacher makes a mistake, no one knows the difference.

When a lawyer makes a mistake, it was just what he wanted, because he has a chance to try the case all over again.

When a judge makes a mistake, it becomes the law of the land.

When a doctor makes a mistake, he burles it.

When an editor makes a mistake—GOOD NIGHT!

CHINESE AND ARMY IN A POOR MATCH

poorest game of the season. Baldry was little better. Higgins was never given the ghost of a chance either to shine or prove himself a failure. Greenshields was back in the middle line for most of the game, and Hoquaard, sorely neglected, could do little on his own.

But if the Army forwards were left to forage for themselves, it can be said that the Chinese vanguard were spoon-fed. Only they swallowed their spoons, threw away their feed, and danced lazily round the ball whilst Allan and Morrison slipped in to save them from tripping over it.

But after allowing for the responsibilities of the Chinese forwards, due recognition must be given to the Army defence for their excellent work.

Allan was never in difficulties and Morrison emerged as usual with colours flying. Combe, too, extricated his charge from some awkward situations. These were the bright spots in the Army team. The individual honours among the Chinese were carried off by Li Tin-sang (he nearly scored a goal in the last five minutes), Leung Wing-chui, Leung In-chun and Cheung Pak-shung.

Recaptures Old Form

The two backs held the Army inside tripping grip, and had they not allowed themselves to be surprised, the Army goal would never have been scored.

Leung Wing-chui recaptured some of his old form, and both in defence and attack was a leading light.

But entertaining as these individual players were, one had to recognise that the game fell very far short of what was promised and of what the teams were capable.

There was a blank sheet at the interval, which was not surprising as no other acts of forwards looked likely to score in a month of Sundays.

The second half was well advanced when Greenshields turned Baldry's centre to good account.

In the gathering gloom (the game having started late owing to a second division match) the Chinese made half-hearted efforts to equalise, the last incident of note being a free kick by Wong Mo-shun which just dropped over the bar.

There was an excellent attendance and the Hon. Mr. R. H. Kotewall kicked off.

QUIET DETERMINATION TRIUMPHS

to have the idea he was shooting between two golden opportunities, shot wildly and missed the goal by yards. Tam Kong-pak only registered one real shot, and that was saved!

And it wasn't only in the shooting department that the Chinese were of colour. Their mid-field movements lacked cohesion and understanding which has hitherto been such characteristics.

During the whole match I saw only one really praiseworthy constructive attack by the Chinese, and this resulted in their first goal.

It started from Leung In-chun in the Chinese half. The ball travelled to Wong, thence to Yeung, back to the centre, where Tam Kong-pak did the rest. A really pretty goal.

The Club's Goals

But the best came from the Club. The first was the culmination of a left wing movement, Bickford sending across the ground first time. Howe made as though to receive it and jumped over the ball to allow Strange to bang it into the net, a rasping shot.

For the second, Ernest Strange took all the honours. Receiving a forward pass from Howe, he was tackled by Li Tin-sang. Strange handed him a real "dummy" feinting as though to pass to Bickford and then cutting through between the back to shoot in a terrific shot with his left foot from 15 yards range.

The third was another Strange-Bickford movement, which allowed Howe to run in and take the ball first, beating Wong Wing with a great angle shot.

Success did not come to the Chinese until ten minutes of the second half had elapsed, and then Tam scored as already described. In another ten minutes, the Chinese had registered their second. Strange accidentally handling in the penalty area, and Tam made no mistake.

From then to the end it was a thrilling struggle. South China applied a lot of pressure, although not with any great confidence or skill, and the Club defence came out with flying colours.

The speaker at to-morrow's meeting of the Rotary Club will be Mr. E. Baer, who will discourse on "How to learn a language".

FINE DISPLAY OF PEARLS

BARGAIN OFFERS IN HONGKONG

Mr. Kodaka, the well-known Japanese pearl merchant, whose annual exhibitions in Hongkong have become an established event at this time of the year, is again here and will show his collection at Messrs. Komor and Komor's as usual, commencing to-day, continuing for ten days only.

Last year Mr. Kodaka was unable to visit the Colony on account of the fact that he responded to an invitation to exhibit at Amsterdam, where record business was done. Whilst in Europe he also visited Berlin, Brussels, Paris and other important centres, and whilst there secured a large number of the latest designs in jewellery mounted, which he is now showing here.

Cultured pearls are much sought after in Europe, and at the present moment prices are lower than they have ever been owing to the extremely favourable exchange. It should be noted that Mr. Kodaka's visit this year is for ten days only, as he has other important engagements to fulfil.

cumbent upon every citizen to work wholeheartedly for the welfare and for the very existence of the country. While the Government is doing its very best in negotiating with foreign powers to maintain China's sovereignty and interests, and in stamping out communistic members to secure permanent peace and order, the Fukien secessionists engineered by Chen Ming-shu and Li Chai-sun, have openly revolted against the National Government.

MIXED CROWD.

In so doing, they have rallied around themselves the Socialists, the Nationalists, the Reactionists, and the Third Party. They have deserted the Kuomintang, defied the national flag, and betrayed the Chinese nation.

They supply provisions, arms and ammunition to the Communists and are undoing what the National Government has done at a tremendous cost in the past year.

In harbouring the dangerous Communists, the revolutionists in Fukien are converting Fukien into a second Kiangsi, and in befriending our ambitious neighbour, they are turning Fukien into another Manchuria.—Wah Kiu Yat Po.

BRITONS IN GERMAN PRISON

ONE BIT OF BREAD IN 20 HOURS

AFTER being imprisoned for 48 hours in Germany as suspected spies, Mr. Philip Tenner, of Saddleworth, Yorks, and Dr. Ramsden, of Dobcross, have returned to Saddleworth.

Mr. Tenner is the eldest son of Col. G. Tenner, managing director of Tenner Brothers, and chairman of the Colne Valley Conservative Association.

Dr. Hulton's home is at Parbold. Mr. Tenner, in an interview, said that while at Munich they bought a book on Hitlerism printed in English, and it was through this that the trouble arose.

They were motoring near Nuremberg and collided with a cyclist who had no proper light on his machine. The police intervened, and a demand was made for 17s. 6d., which they declined to pay, as the cyclist was not injured, and they considered he was to blame for the accident. The result was they were arrested.

Their car was searched and the book about Hitler found. The police could not read it and jumped to the conclusion that the motorists were engaged in spying.

Next morning they were taken to Arnhem and were examined twice during the day.

For 20 hours they had no food except a piece of bread and a cup of coffee.

Two days later they were told the charge of espionage had been dropped and they were allowed to go on payment of £4 each.

NAVAL YARD MAN MISSING

CHINESE NOT SEEN SINCE FRIDAY

The police have been notified that Kam Hon, aged 37 years, employed at the Naval Yard, has been missing from his home at 14, Bowring Street, since 9.30 p.m. on the 24th.

He had been playing a game of mah jong, and excusing himself after one of the hands, he left the room, and has not been seen since.

INSURANCE OF ATLANTIQUE

TOTAL LOSS, OR TO BE REPAIRED?

A STORY as extraordinary as any in the history of marine insurance is given in explanation of the long delay in settling the case of the 42,500-ton French liner Atlantique, burnt last January off Guernsey.

While the ship lies in the dry dock at Cherbourg, the Paris Court which is hearing the demand of the owners, the Compagnie Sud-Atlantique, that the underwriters should pay as for a "total loss," is awaiting the report of the Expert Commission appointed to report on the technical aspects of the case.

The great liner, although she cost about £2,500,000 to build, was insured—for the most part in London—for 100,000,000 francs (£800,000 at par). In respect of all risks to the hull, and for a further sum in francs amounting to nearly £600,000 at par, payable only in the event of total loss.

The underwriting contracts provide that if repairs cost more than the sum for which the hull is insured, the vessel shall be regarded as a total loss, in which case both the policies become payable.

This means that underwriters would have to find over £2,000,000 at the present rate of exchange, though it may be observed that different sets of underwriters are interested divergently in the separate policies.

A BELFAST TENDER.

On behalf of the underwriters it has been maintained that the vessel could be repaired and although the owners have insisted that she should be classed as a total loss the Commission appointed by the French Court invited tenders.

These tenders have now been received, and the lowest sent in is, from a Belfast firm of world-wide reputation.

This has led to a new and complicated dispute. The British firm's tender is cheaper in terms of francs than the cost in pounds of paying the "hull" policy in francs, for the reason that the pound is now worth only 80 francs, whereas the cost of repairs in England has not risen appreciably since 1931. Should, however, the franc's exchange value fall, the tender might easily exceed the figure in francs at which a "total loss" claim is payable.

Indeed, it is believed that the present Belfast tender in terms of the franc would exceed the sum for which the hull was insured, in the event of the pound becoming worth 85 francs or more.

What will happen now is doubtful.

But pending the result of the action against the underwriters, the owners of the vessel are taking no steps. The company's position is that having been advised that the cost of repairs would exceed the sum assured, they have abandoned her to the underwriters.

GIRL LOSES BREACH APPEAL

PHRASE THAT PUZZLED A JUDGE

An appeal for a new trial by Miss Grace de Lacy, cinema attendant, of Bury-street, Norwich, who failed to recover damages for alleged breach of promise of marriage against George Watson, a constable in the Portsmouth Police Force, was dismissed in the Court of Appeal.

Miss de Lacy's case was that, in December, 1930, Watson had promised to marry her at the end of the following year. The defendant pleaded that, if there was a promise, the engagement was broken off by mutual consent.

"THE STRAIGHT GRIFLIN"

Mr. Cecil Havers, for Miss de Lacy, mentioned that at the very start of his summing up, Mr. Justice Charles told the jury he had never seen a case in which there had been a more frantic attempt to make money and he would be surprised if the jury thought this an honest claim.

The ground of the appeal was misdirection by the Judge. During the reading of the correspondence the Master of the Rolls was puzzled by the phrase, "All I ask is the 'straight griffin'."

Lord Justice Blesser pointed out that a Judge was entitled to express his own view to a jury, and the Master of the Rolls said he did not think Mr. Justice Charles intended to represent Miss de Lacy as dishonest, but rather rapacious.

GUILLOTINE IN TOWN SQUARE

TEN YEARS' HARD FOR SISTERS

WHAT became known as the "sulphuric acid trial" ended at Aix-en-Provence, France, on November 1, when the following sentences were pronounced:

Georges Sarret, the central figure, found guilty of murder, sentenced to death, and ordered to be guillotined in the public square at Aix-en-Provence, and

The sisters Philomene and Katharine Schmidt, sentenced to 10 years' imprisonment, with the equivalent of a man's hard labour sentence.

Katherine and Philomene were found "Not guilty" of murder, but were declared guilty of defrauding companies with whom the victims of Sarret's crimes had been insured. They were also sentenced to 10 years' banishment from Aix-en-Provence after their term of imprisonment.

Sarret was fined 100 francs. When sentence was pronounced Sarret smiled sardonically.

THE CRIMES.

Enormous crowds gathered outside the courthouse while the jury were deliberating, and double rows of guards were necessary when the prisoners were driven away amid cries of "To death!"

Sarret, a Levantine who had become a naturalised Frenchman, and the Schmidt sisters, who were Germans by birth and French by marriage, were accused of a series of crimes, including murder and swindling.

The trial was mainly concerned with the murder of an unfrocked priest, Chambon, and his fiancée, Mme. Ballardreau, whose bodies Sarret was charged with dissolving in a bath of sulphuric acid.

On more than one occasion during the trial the Schmidt sisters, recalls Reuter, tried to attack Sarret.

The prosecution has claimed that among other deaths for which Sarret and the Schmidt sisters were responsible was that of Magali Herbin, a young consumptive woman who died while in the care of Katherine and Philomene.

Others against whom charges had also been brought, were acquitted.

Match Won And Lost In The First Ten Minutes

ASTONISHING reversals of form not only incurred two surprise results on Saturday, but created quite a new position in the league table of the first division of the local football league. Thanks to the defeat of the Lincolns and South China, both St. Joseph's and the Navy improved their standings. The Borderers also benefitted. THE Club are gradually proving to be South China's bogey team. For the second year the Europeans gained an unexpected victory. Kowloon were again unlucky: the Lincolns were beaten by a better team: the Police were made to look third rate by the Borderers.

COMBEY, of the Artillery, who kept goal for the Army had a much busier time than Wong Kee leung, the former South China custodian. Combey played a clever game often relieving dangerous situations with his well timed clearances. Here he is seen saving well, with Wong Mee-shun in close attendance. (Photo: Ming Yuen).

Soccer Shorts & Sidelights

(Conducted By "Veritas")

THERE were sufficient surprises in the week-end results to make football fans sit up and take notice.

THE Club take order of precedence. And this time there was no sneering "lucky" to be shouted about the clubhouses. The Club won because they were the better team. South China, I am sure would be the first to acknowledge this.

THE way those reserves came in to the Club team and out all their heart into the job was a great sight. They may have been lacking in finesse, but when it came to grit and determination, they held their own with the best.

INCIDENTALLY Skinner was kept out of the team owing to an injury sustained at practice on Thursday. It seems he was about to shoot, when tackled from behind, and his foot was badly hurt.

AFTER seeing both Chinese games this week-end I am convinced they have lost a lot of speed. The same neat inter-passing is there, but the ball is not moved quickly enough, allowing a nimble defender the opportunity of intercepting. This was made especially evident yesterday.

KOWLOON COLLAPSE IN LAST FEW MINUTES

AFTER GIVING BRIGHTEST DISPLAY OF THE SEASON

By "Wanderer."

Navy 6 Kowloon 2

IT was bewildering to see Kowloon go down so heavily after a brilliant exhibition in the first half when their re-arranged attack played delightfully attractive football with real idea and purpose behind it.

Nothing better has been seen on the Kowloon ground or on many other grounds this season than the swift passing bouts which swept them through the Navy defence time and again, with Lewis, Hill and Timberlake in particularly dashing form.

The reward reaped consisted of two perfect goals, both scored by Lewis and both worked for in the same way. The Navy defence failed to get near the ball, the final movement in each case developing when Timberlake made a perfect through pass for Lewis to snap up the ball clear of the backs and score at his ease.

Disputed Goal

Yet Kowloon went into the clubhouse at half-time with the position no better than a two-all draw. In one of the Navy rushes, Skinner scored from thirty yards range with a glorious shot which Cook made no attempt to save, apparently thinking that, like a very similar shot shortly before, it would pass over the bar. And near the interval, Smith drove in and a hotly disputed goal was awarded to the Navy. Willis kicked the ball clear and the mere fact that the ball finally lodged in the stand behind the goal casts doubt on the justice of the referee's award. It is difficult to explain how Willis could kick the ball round the post if it had passed inside.

Even in the second half, when the Navy clearly reversed the run of play and indulged in the bulk of the attacking work, no-one anticipated the final result. Only fifteen minutes were left for play when Langmead burst through the Kowloon backs to put the Navy into the lead for the first time with a splendid goal, and then Kowloon came back strongly for Blake to put in two rasping drives, the first of which Liddington saved but failed to hold, Elliot handling the rebound to spoil a great chance, and the second of which missed the left-hand post by inches.

The effort having failed, Kowloon shot their bolt and five minutes from the end, Willis put through his own goal trying to clear, the defence crumpling up completely from that moment. Langmead scored two further goals, one three minutes from the end and the other one minute from time.

Weak Kowloon Backs

For Kowloon it was a disastrous finish to a great game in which for the most part they had given as good a display of real football as they are likely to give this season, until those last five fatal minutes. Their only weakness was at back where Willis and Martin at no time inspired confidence.

In the first half, Kowloon's half-backs held the fort magnificently and kept pressure off the rear-guard. But in this need, which was only too obvious, they were overworked and it was not surprising to find them struggling to raise a gallop in the closing stages. Pope, who came into the Kowloon eleven at right half for the first time, rivalled Ward of the Navy as the best half on the field. He was a better offensive half than defensive, but against the most dangerous rider on the Navy side, Skinner, Pope more than held his own for the greater part of the game, while Ward, added by the fact that Elliot was inclined to hang back in his new position at inside-loft, had Kowloon's left wing fairly under control.

McGuire played a nice game at centre-half in the second half, distributing the ball with splendid judgment, while Kowloon's pivot, Jones, was a curious mixture.

His tackling was well-timed and accurate and his passing good, but several times the eye caught him standing still waiting for something to happen when he should have been making his contribution.

Bliss had a hard day, running between Smith and the speedy Hudspeth, Martin failing to back him up.

Navy Well Balanced

Taking the game by and large, Kowloon looked a highly efficient team when attacking. When the tide ran against them, their defensive weaknesses were apparent. The Navy were a well-balanced side fore and aft, ever pursuing the direct method, clean and incisive in most of their work, solid rather than brilliant, always passing away, even when their defence was having a trying time.

QUIET DETERMINATION TRIUMPHS OVER LETHARGIC NONCHALANCE

CLUB'S NEW METHODS OF ATTACK PROVE HIGHLY SUCCESSFUL

(By "Veritas").

South China 2 Club 3

I AM not certain if I owe the Club an apology, or whether it is due from South China to those of us who had such faith in them as to be prepared to put our last shirt on their winning.

In any case it is a moot point, and if, in my pre-match comments, I refrained from holding out any hope for the Club, it gives me double the pleasure here and now to acknowledge their brilliant success of Saturday.

It is not the first time the Club have proved champion-beaters, and in defeating South China by the odd goal in five at Caroline Hill they were merely repeating history.

But this time there was nothing fluky about it. Any other result would have been distinctly uncomplimentary to the Club. On Saturday they beat South China on their merits, nothing more nor less.

Before particularising, I think this match can be described as a triumph of quiet determination over lethargic nonchalance, born of over-confidence. And although generally it is not to be regarded as the best method of expression, I am prepared to go as far as asserting that Ernest Strange beat South China in the first ten minutes of the game, when he not only scored two of the peachiest goals imaginable, but put the Chinese defence on such tenderhooks, that they were never able to settle down.

Contributing Factors

The Club finished the first 35 minutes with three goals to the good. The chief contributing factors were their extra speed to the ball, and their fast moving of the ball when in possession.

There was no sugar coating to the Club movements. They were made with a purpose (and with such precision as to satisfy one that they were also pre-conceived.) The ball travelled fast and accurately from player to player, with each of the three goals the materialisation of this plan of campaign.

It was quite a new interpretation by the Club of the rules of vanguard play, and if they could guarantee to apply it each week, I can't see many teams stopping them from winning.

The display of Ernest Strange brought home more forcibly than ever before how rich local football is at the present with inside lifts. We have Ridley of the Lincolns, Hazlewood of the Borderers, Tam Kong-Pak of South China and Strange of the Club. Their current form makes them all candidates for the highest local honours.

This was undoubtedly Strange's finest display since being elevated to the senior team. His game was a happy mixture of constructive individualism (per that second goal), opportunism, and skilful combination. In other words he did the right thing at the right moment.

Hoplessly At Sea

In the first half Li Tin-sang was hopelessly at sea with the Bickford-Strange alliance. Leung In-eh saw even less of them. Bickford introduced a new and successful note into his methods. As soon as he received the ball anywhere near the corner flag, he despatched it first time along the ground to the centre. It produced the Club's first and third goals.

In stating that the whole of the Club's attacking movements came from the left wing, it suggests that the forward line was unbalanced. Up to a point this was true. Fowler had a real off day, and was obviously still suffering from the effects of his injury.

But Howe led the forwards well until a wicked knee fifteen minutes from the end put him off the field for the remainder of the game. Dornay, although out of touch with the attacks, was playing to instructions, and as a fourth half did his share of good work.

I raise my hat to Andy Duncan! He gave his best display of snelling work in two years. Yeung Shui-yick, the only forward in the early stages who suggested danger to the Club defence, was before the end subjugated by the indomitable half back, whose interceptions and tackling made him the best intermediate on the field.

The absence of Skinner and Robertson sadly weakened the Club half back line. Boyd (in the pivotal position) and Hawkins stuck gamely to their job, and it was their determination which pulled them through a big ordeal.

Defence Sound

Boyd was constantly being beaten for possession, but his quick recovery often made them on tenterhooks, and he gallantly fulfilled his mission in taking the sting out of Wong Mee-shun.

Rawlings was fortunate in having a real weak wing to mark. Tong Kwong was never any danger. Quite the reverse. He more often defeated his own ends.

The soundness of the Club defence was again emphasised. Syd Strange earned the honours in the early stages, but it was Desmond Hynes, whose faithful shadowing of Tam Kong-pak rendered important that young player, who caught the eye in the last quarter of an hour.

Quick and sure in his tackling, Hynes ward off many threatening situations.

Lowon, again deputising for Fowler in goal, had very little to do so efficiently as he covered, and so atrociously did South China shoot. But in the first half he did clear his lines particularly well when Tam Kong-pak got in a characteristic first timer, and once or twice before the close, he ran out and relieved the backs.

Without desiring to take any gift off the success enjoyed by the Club, I do not hesitate in claiming that South China largely contributed to their own defeat.

Too Much Fag!

The whole team played as though it was too much fag to do so! There wasn't a sparkle in any of the attacks; the half back broke down completely, and Li Tin-sang and Lau Mau, thrown back on their own resources, were forced to realise their shortcomings.

The collapse of the intermediates made all the difference between victory and defeat; for in the second half the forwards might have scored a few goals had they been properly supported. Not even Leung Wing-chui could get going. His passes went all astray, and he never looked capable of stopping Strange.

It was pretty well the same story on the flank. Li Wan-kwok certainly bottled up Fowler, but he made the mistake of concentrating his passes on Tong Kwan, when the left winger had already demonstrated that it was not his "Big Day."

Even allowing for the obvious left wing deficiency, to make Wong Mee-shun difficult for the atrocious play of the inside forwards. Pau Ka-ping seemed

CHINESE AND ARMY IN A POOR MATCH

ONLY A FEW PLAYERS TOUCH REAL FORM

(By "Veritas").

Combined Chinese 0 Army 1

NOT even the worthy object of this match—the swelling of the Tung Wah Hospital's coffers—could wholly compensate for the disappointment given the spectators by both teams.

For two evenings, professedly representative of some of the best football talent in the Colony, their display was appalling. Even the Chinese on the cumshaw hillside found it difficult to raise excited and enthusiastic "Hei-yas" at the display!

That the Chinese lost was completely their own fault. Perhaps some of my readers are becoming a little tired of me continually offering this as one of the reasons for a Chinese defeat. But in this case it is fairly incontrovertible. They had a major share of the play, with a pronounced superiority in midfield but with pattern-weaving being overdone, and forwards who lost all sense of direction in their shooting, their chances of winning faded as the game wore on.

Only Few Exceptions

With two or three exceptions, the players seemed unable to produce anything like their ordinary form. Only Allan, Li Tin-sang, Leung Wing-chui, and in a slightly lesser degree, Morrison and Combey touched any standard above mediocrity. An illustration of the ineffectiveness of the game was furnished in the winning goal. It was scored by Greenshields, who throughout had played as though he was entirely out of his class of football.

There were several spicy and entertaining pieces of individual cleverness in the match, but the team work served up was very uncomplimentary to the real meaning of that phrase.

Both teams made chances. Lau Mau was an absentee, and Cheung Pak-shung came in at right back.

Li Tin-sang switching over to left. The Army brought in Greenshields for Ridley, and Jones for Wallace.

Jones, after giving two magnificent displays at left half for the Borderers, was practically useless, and scarcely put a right foot.

FURTHERMORE this shortcoming does not seem to be confined to South China. The Athletic players seemed to be a move behind throughout yesterday's match.

St. Joseph's have made me bite my words with a vengeance. To trounce the winning Athletic by 4-1 is no mean feat. No Sir! My congratulations "A.V." and colleagues!

OCCUPIED at Caroline Hill, I was unable to see the match, but I am told St. Joseph's called the tune for the better part of the game, and that their forwards, (who can be nippy and penetrative when they like) had the Lincolns' rear-guard at sixes and sevens.

IT is no excuse for the soldiers' defeat to state that Ridley was suffering from an injury and was therefore handicapped. But equally so it will not be denied that it meant an all-round reduction in the strength of the forward line.

WHICH is tantamount to saying that without Ridley on top form, the Lincolns lose much of their potentiality. Which, further, I do not deny.

UNDERWOOD, the Borderers left half, who was recently suspended for his part in a fracas with Tay Quong-tong of South China is not likely to appear again for the 24th this season.

IT is said that the Powers That Be, other than the Football Association, have taken a serious view of the case.

A PART from this Underwood would find it difficult to reclaim his position, for Jones is proving such an adept substitute, and Haslewood such a brilliant successor to "Hooker" at inside left, that the Borderers would naturally hesitate to change their winning combination.

PERRY'S YEAR

OUTSTANDING FEATS

CRAWFORD AGAIN BEATEN

Melbourne, Nov. 25. Fred Perry, Britain's No. 1 ranking player and holder of the U.S. tennis title, defeated Jack Crawford in the final of the Victorian Championship to-day by scores of 6-4, 2-6, 6-4, 6-3.

The splendid accuracy of his shots and his indomitable fighting spirit earned for Perry his victory, which was thoroughly deserved.

Crawford, holder of the Wimbledon, French, and Australian titles, gave a mingled display of brilliant and mediocre tennis. He undoubtedly lost to the better man on the day's play.—Reuter.

PERRY'S GREAT YEAR.

This year has been the most successful in the meteoric career of Perry.

He came into his own in the Davis Cup, after falling at Wimbledon.

In the Inter-Zone final against America, he beat Wilmer Allison 6-1, 7-5, 6-4, and in a brilliant display against Vines, beat the American 1-6, 6-0, 4-6, 7-5, 7-6, 10-15, Vines collapsing in a faint at this point and retiring.

Subsequently in the Challenge Round, Perry covered himself with glory, firstly beating Henri Cochet 8-10, 6-4, 8-6, 3-6, 6-1, and then overcoming Andre Merlon 6-3, 6-4, 6-0.

Making the trip to America as an official representative of the English L. T. A., Perry crowned

J. Crawford.

his achievements by winning the U. S. championship, defeating J. Crawford in the final 6-3, 11-13, 4-6, 6-0, 6-1.

Later Perry won the Pacific South-West Championship in face of severe opposition, overcoming Jiro Satoh in the final 6-4, 1-6, 6-3, 7-5.

NOVEMBER HANDICAP.

Jean's Dream Wins By Half A Length.

FREE FARE SECOND.

London, Nov. 25. Twenty-eight started for the Manchester November Handicap, which resulted as follows:

Jean's Dream (Dinos)	1
Free Fare (Sam Wragg)	2
Boni Solist (Strett)	3

The odds were 20 to one, nine to one and 60 to one respectively.

Won by half a length, and three lengths.

Quick rode Air Captain and Disarmament was ridden by Ray, lathmus, by Gulliver, Blandineer by Bullock and Blandineer by Brennan. Sans Phoebe was the only last-minute withdrawal.—Reuter.

HELP NAVY TO WIN

H.K. CLUB AGAIN BEATEN

(By Line Out)

The Navy scored another win over the Club Rugby fifteen on Saturday at Happy Valley.

This time the Club managed to keep the score against them down to 19 points (two goals and three tries), but they failed to score themselves, although they had opportunities.

Robertson cut through very nicely on two occasions, but he is not quite fast enough for an attacking player, although very sound in defence.

The Club forwards, led exceptionally well by Bradford, who captained the side in the absence of Selby, played much better rugby than previously. They did not get much of the ball in the tight scrums, but held well in the loose.

FORBE'S REVERSE PASSES.

Meeke played scrum half in the place of Selby and gave a very good display. He had Forbes as his opposite number, and as the latter played brilliantly, the Club man had a rather bad time.

Forbes's reverse passes from the scrum were the feature of the game, and he continually set his three quarters going.

Slater the Navy inside was inclined to try to do too much on his own, and threw away a lot of chances by not passing to St. Clair Ford. However, he scored the first try from a good pass from Miera, Linton was unable to convert. The only other try in the initial half was scored by Daney who cut through and ran for the line well. The try was not converted and so half time came with the Navy leading by six points to nil.

In the second half the Navy's superior knowledge and training gave them three more tries. St. Clair Ford scored after ten minutes. Shaw converted.

ST. CLAIR FORD'S TRIES.

The Club had to re-arrange their three-quarters line owing to an injury to Hutchison. Lammet came into the centre until Hutchison had recovered, after which they reverted to their old positions.

Another try came through St. Clair Ford almost immediately after his first, but it was not converted. Ferguson almost scored for the Club, but was well tackled by Buckley just short of the line.

The final score for the Navy came from a line-out, the ball travelling to St. Clair Ford who finished a fine passing movement by scoring his third try. Linton added the extra points.

For the Club, Turner was always helpful to the forwards with his defensive kicking, and Hutchison tackled well. He is, however, a little too light, and was unfortunately to be injured.

In the scrum Cumming and Burch got through a great deal of work.

The Navy once again gave a great display, and will be a very difficult side to beat on their present form.

HOME RUGBY.

London, Nov. 25. Playing at Sunderland, Lancashire had a narrow victory over Durham in the County Rugby Championship by nine points to eight. Leicester were too good for Warwickshire, while the East Midlands swamped the North by 25-3, and Yorkshire beat Cheshire by 31-10.

Both Oxford and Cambridge were engaged; the former losing to Gloucester and the latter easily defeating the United Services at Portsmouth.

Blackheath had a comfortable win against the Harlequins, scores: County Championship: Durham 8 Lancashire 9

"Spurs" Come A Cropper

ARSENAL TAKE OVER THE LEAGUE LEADERSHIP

(By "The Pilgrim")

It was inevitable that the "Spurs" would crack up sooner or later but that they should do so before their own spectators was a big surprise.

Dorby have a very consistent record behind them so far this season, and it is evident that apart from the fumbling of the White Hart Lane goal-keeper, Nichols, they had the mastery of the play.

Duncan, a comparative newcomer to the "Rams" front line, was mainly responsible for their win.

Arsenal who had a difficult proposition before them at Huddersfield came through with flying colours to take their old place at the head of the League. Dunne, recently obtained from Sheffield United, headed the only goal of the match from a corner kick taken by Bastin.

The home side were unfortunate not to share points when Mangall netted from a brilliant centre by Lumsden, the young Sunderland amateur, only to hear the whistle blown for an offside infringement.

Chelsen improved by dividing honours with Birmingham at Stamford Bridge Barkas putting through his own goal, and Portsmouth showed renewed form at the expense of Manchester City.

Middleboro gave an excellent display at Wolverhampton and are securely stationed half way up the table.

West Ham faltered at Upton Park whilst Bury surprised by taking both points from Bradford. Queen o'South obtained a useful brace at home whilst Rangers and Motherwell went further ahead, the latter gaining a typical home win by one goal.

THE CUP TIES

Remarkable Win For Sutton

Norwich might have gone far in the Cup if they had not had the misfortune to be drawn away to Crystal Palace who are on top of their form just now. The Canaries lost by three goals, despite a spirited second half resistance.

Dulwich Hamlet warded off defeat for another day by sharing four goals with their Newport visitors, credit attaching particularly to the home defenders Hugo and Robbins.

The ball flashed from a Rochdale man's foot into the net a second after the final whistle had blown in the Club's cup engagement at Sutton and the visitors thus found themselves eliminated at first round by the odd goal in three.

Kingstonians, amateur Cup-holders, went down to Bristol City on their own ground by seven goals to one. They had the misfortune to lose two men through injuries after 20 minutes play.

LUCKY WIN FOR ST. ANDREW'S

REVIEW OF THE WEEK-END HOCKEY

By "Balls-Off"

St. Andrew's were lucky to win Mamak Points from the 12th. Battery yesterday afternoon. In the second half of the game the Battery dominated play and but for repeated breaches of the off-side rule by their left wing would undoubtedly have notched more goals. The Saints were without the services of E.P.H. White, while G. Lynn and R. Baldwin deputised for P. J. Barlow and M. Weill at right and left wing respectively.

The Saints had the better of the exchanges in the first half but their marksmanship was poor. They managed, however, to change over with a lead of one goal. In the second half, A. S. Bliss increased the Saint's lead, and before the final whistle Flowerdew got through on his own to score for the Battery.

The Radio 2nd. XI defeated the Medway 2nd. XI by three goals to two at Caroline Hill on Saturday. G. Singh (2) and Surj Singh netted for the Radio and Ferris and Holmes for the Medway.

As was expected, there was little to choose between the Hong-kong Ladies and St. Andrew's Ladies in their friendly encounter at Soekumpo on Saturday, the Caer Clark Cup champions winning by the only goal scored. M. Woolley played a great game in the centre for the Saints but did not receive sufficient support from her inside players. The H.K. Ladies scored in the closing stages through J. Churchill.

The H.K. Ladies "B" team defeated the Club de Recreio by five goals to one on the Marina Ground on Saturday. S. Adams (3) and M. Bishop (2) scored for Hongkong and C. Remedios for the Recreio.

The "Y" Ladies, playing at King's Park on Saturday, beat the D.G.S. by four goals to one. O. Dalziel (2) and O. Brown (2) scored for the winners and S. West for the D.G.S.

A MIXED C.B.A. eleven, playing at King's Park on Saturday, lost to H.M.S. Cumberland by one goal to nil.

The following will represent the Radio Sports Club in a friendly hockey match against the Lincolnshire Regiment at Caroline Hill this afternoon at 4.45 p.m.: Man Singh; P. Singh; J. S.

Grewal; Jaggeet Singh, G. J. Dyke, M. Singh; Attar Singh, G. Singh, Awtar Singh, M. H. Hassan and F. A. Kemp (Captain).

The same team will play against the Royal Engineers at Soekumpo to-morrow at 5 p.m.

In a friendly game with H.M.S. Eagle at Caroline Hill yesterday afternoon, the Radio won by two goals to one. Awtar Singh was responsible for both goals.

New Mixed Doubles Title Holders

L. GOLDMAN AND MRS. LOCHNER

L. Goldman and Mrs. Lochner won the open mixed doubles championship of the Colony, when at the C.R.C. "At Home" on Saturday they defeated the holders, M. W. Lo and Mrs. Litton in the final by 7-5, 7-5.

Lo was suffering from the effect of a severe chill and his play was consequently affected. But Goldman and Mrs. Lochner deserved their success as a better combination.

Mrs. Lochner was particularly reliable, whilst Mrs. Litton was prominent with her forehand driving.

Among those present were H.E. the Governor (Sir William Peel), His Honour Mr. Justice R.E. Lindsell (President of the H. K. L. T. A.) and Mr. M. K. Lo (Vice-President H. K. L. T. A.)

FANLING GOLF

In the Bogey (Par) Competition at Fanling during the week-end, twenty-three players took out cards. The only two returned were by R. K. Valentine (9), two down, who wins, and Instr. Lieut. J. A. Burnett (10), three down.

I.R.C. CRICKETERS IN GREAT FORM

PEREIRA AND RUMJAHN

That the Indian Recreation Club will figure very prominently this year in the race for cricket league honours, was promised on Saturday, when their teams gained handsome and convincing successes in both divisions.

For the seniors, A. H. Rumjahn touched some of his best form in compiling 68, whilst F. Pereira, the Interporter, completely demoralised Craigengower with his fast deliveries.

Here are the leading performances of the day:

YOUR CHILD'S HEALTH

Normal healthy children are active and happy. When a child is fretful, does not want to play and refuses to eat, it is often a sign that the system is out of order.

Try CASTORIA! It is especially made for children's ailments. It quickly and gently stimulates the sensitive bowels, corrects upset stomach and aids digestion. It tastes good and may be given safely to the

CINEMA SCREENINGS

NOTES SUPPLIED BY THE THEATRES

Loretta Young, winsome young blonde star, is one of the busiest girls in Hollywood. During her six years in pictures, she has made an average of nine productions, each year giving her a record total that surpasses that of many old timers who have been appearing in films for two decades.
When it is considered that the average production these days takes at least a month, it can be seen that most of Miss Young's spare time between pictures is occupied with fittings and other preparations for her next pictures. In recent months, she has made three pictures in a row, going directly from one to another. After "Zoo in Budapest", she made "Lady of the Night", and has just finished co-starring with Victor Jory in "The Devil in Love", a new production, now at the Kings Theatre. On completion of this picture, she voted herself an extended holiday, her first real one since she started to make a name for herself in movies.

"Storm at Daybreak"

Starting with a breath-taking spectacle of the world shocking assassination of the Archduke Ferdinand of Austria in Sarajevo just before the outbreak of the World War, and ending with an even more breathtaking climax in which a husband settles the fate of his wife and the man whom she loves by driving himself to death over an amputation,
"Storm at Daybreak", which was shown for the first time yesterday at the Queen's Theatre, is a production
now at the Kings Theatre. On completion of this picture, she voted herself an extended holiday, her first real
one since she started to make a name
for herself in movies.

When Vilma Banky, who triumphantly returns to the screen as Lulu Trenker's leading lady in "The Rebel", coming to the King's Theatre on Wednesday, arrives at the United States several years ago, she was, although quite charming, enough to delight hard-boiled New Yorkers, about as much American as Mussolini.
But just as surely as "the Hungarian kiss" is coming back to her as an less fan, so has she also arrived at a complete naturalization in the land of her adoption. To begin with, she is married to an American, Rod LaTouche who, despite his Gallic name, is as American as they make them. They have been married five years and form one of Hollywood's most perfect pictures of happy married life. When she was rushed over to America to make her screen debut with Ronald Colman in "The Dark Angel", Miss Banky's quaint version of English, as much as her striking blonde beauty, formed the subject of much comment. But by sheer hard work, which involved intensive reading, study and practice, she succeeded in learning to speak English expertly and fluently as the best out of Boston.
Nature is there is still the ghost of an accent but it only succeeds in adding to her charm. Following her marriage to LaTouche, Miss Banky renounced her seven career in favour of domesticity. But idleness irked her; so when Universal offered her the leading feminine role in "The Rebel", she decided to make a comeback and, according to advance reports, succeeds marvellously.

IRISH POLITICS

MR. DE VALERA AND THE NORTHERN ELECTION

Belfast, Nov. 26.
A mild sensation has been caused by the report that the Police Officer in charge of the Downpatrick District has received instructions to serve an exclusion order on Mr.
Eamon de Valera, President of the Irish Free State, should he enter the district for election campaign purposes.

It was announced earlier this month that de Valera and his colleagues intended to assist in the Republican campaign in the forthcoming general elections in Northern Ireland.—Reuter.

De Valera Visits.

Belfast Nov. 26.
The difficult position regarding the order prohibiting Mr. de Valera from participating in the Republican general election campaign in Northern Ireland has eased as a result of the Irish Free State's President not to enter.

Actually the result of the elections is already beyond doubt, as the Official Unionists returned unopposed give the party a majority of two over any possible combination.—Reuter.

Nominations for the General Elections, which will be held on November 30, disclosed that 27
Unionists and six Nationalists were returned unopposed. The Unionists are assured of at least 31 seats in the new Parliament, which will assemble on December 11.

FRENCH VESSEL PIRATED

PASSENGERS HELD FOR RANSOM

Following closely upon a general warning, issued by the Harbour Master and Police in Hongkong, that a gang of Blas Bay pirates was known to be in the Colony a sensational coup was perpetrated on the French steamer Commandant Henri Riviere on Friday.
Boarding the vessel in Canton and Hongkong, before its departure for Haiphong and way peris on Friday, the pirates, over twenty strong, captured the vessel without resistance a few hours after she had left the Colony.

The Master of the vessel, Captain P. B. Morganti, was forced at pistol-point to steer a course for Chilang Point light-house. The pirates, after systematically loot-ing the vessel, decamped with four Chinese passengers, who are being held for ransom.

As the result of this latest attack upon shipping, the pirates concerned are richer by loot variously estimated at from $6,000 to $15,000 and by four captives, whom they are holding for ransom.

The captives, who were passengers aboard the vessel, are Wu Ching, 50, merchant of Haiphong, who embarked at Canton;
Chan Sing-po, 76, retired Chinese Maritimes Customs officer, on route from Hongkong to Pakhoi;

Lai Ho-sing, 27, ex-soldier in the Cantonese Army; and Mong Kwok, 39, professional gambler of Kwangtung.

The steamer, which is owned by the Societe Anonyme Pannier, for whom Messrs. Sing Lee, of 14 Connaught Road, are local agents, arrived in Hongkong from Canton

U.S. AMBASSADOR

INSTRUCTED TO PROCEED AT ONCE TO MOSCOW

Warm Springs, Nov. 26.
President Roosevelt has instructed Mr. William C. Bullitt, the newly appointed U.S. Ambassador to the Soviet, to proceed to Moscow immediately in order to establish relations.

Ambassador Bullitt has been instructed to return to America as soon as relations are established in order to report on the situation. He leaves New York for his new post on November 29.
—Reuter.

Litvinoff Leaves

New York, Nov. 25.
"The Disarmament Conference is a corpse which no efforts can bring back to life, and if no death certificate is issued it is only because the doctors are afraid to listen to its heart, which has ceased to beat," declared M.
Maxim Litvinoff at a farewell banquet in his honour.

The progress made by the Soviet was the only ray of light in the gloomy background of European militarism, he said.

While the talks at the White House were very pleasant, M.
Litvinoff declared, he and President Roosevelt had hardly succeeded in convincing each other.

M. Litvinoff sailed by the Italian liner Conte di Savoia for Genoa to-day, after which he will visit Signor Mussolini.—Reuter.

On November 23, and left for Pak-hoi and Haiphong at 11 a.m. on Friday.

Prior to the departure from Hongkong, local water police, as is customary, instituted a search of the 120 Canton and 70 Hongkong embarkations without discovering anything of a suspicious nature.

Put Pebeco—half an inch or so—on your tooth brush when you clean your teeth.

Notice how it stimulates the glands, you feel the cleansing moisture rushing into every crevice, washing away every lurking food remnant, and purifying the whole mouth. Your teeth are actually bathing in a cleansing, germ-destroying flow.

Rinse and gargle mouth and throat, and you will have a feeling of mouth cleanliness and freshness never before experienced.

The salty, invigorating flavour of Pebeco is proof of its medical value.

BEGIN HERE TO-DAY

DAVID BANNISTER returns from Hollywood to his former home, Tremont, for a rest. He is trying to forget ADRIAN ALDER, film actress, who has killed him. Bannister dies with JIM PAXTON, an old friend, now editor of the Tremont Post. Later he takes a cab to drive home. Passing the Shelby Arms, apartment hotel, a traffic light fails the cab. A girl comes out of the hotel, sees the cab and rushes toward it. When she sees Bannister she is embarrassed. He offers her the cab and she agrees to ride with him to her destination. The girl drops her handbag and Bannister sees that it contains a revolver. A few minutes later she leaves.

CHAPTER III

Kate Hewlett read the words aloud, shock and amazement in her voice. "TRACY KING, BAND LEADER, SLAIN IN HOTEL." "It's terrible," she exclaimed. "Simply terrible. Oh, David!"

He was not looking at the huge, black banner headline but at two lines of smaller type, "Unknown Blond Is Sought By Police," the lines read.

Bannister stared at the six words. Mrs. Hewlett went on, reading aloud:

"Tracy King," orchestra leader and master of ceremonies at the State theatre, was found dead from a bullet wound in his head in his apartment at the Shelby Arms hotel shortly after 11 o'clock last night."

Over her spectacles she eyed her nephew. "That's why he wasn't at the theatre!" she said excitedly. "My star! Think of that! The poor young man was lying dead all the time. Oh, but isn't this terrible!"

"Read the rest of it," Bannister said abruptly.

Mrs. Hewlett read on, "Police who believe King was the victim of a murderer are searching for an unknown blond woman, said to have visited the orchestra leader during the evening."

Again she looked up. "A woman!" she exclaimed. "What did I tell you about that fellow not being good enough for Denise Lang? Denise is a blond, too."

The words trailed off and she continued reading: "Captain Oliver McNeal of the homicide squad said a detailed description of the woman's appearance is in the hands of the police and that she is certain to be apprehended within 24 hours."

"The bullet which caused King's

death entered the left side of the head. There were no powder burns, eliminating the possibility of suicide. According to Coroner Charles J. Westwood, King had been dead more than an hour before the body was discovered. The body was found by Al Dragan, also a member of the orchestra, and J. A. Link, night clerk of the hotel. Dragan explained that he went to King's rooms to find out why the band leader had not appeared at the theatre for the 10:45 vaudeville performance. Unable to enter the apartment, which is on the third floor, he summoned Link and together they entered the three-room suite.

"King's body was found lying on the floor of the bedroom. He was fully dressed. There were no signs that a struggle had taken place but a desk in the living room had evidently been rifled. Two of the desk drawers had been pulled out and their contents was in a disordered state."

"Occupants of nearby suites, when questioned, said they had not heard the shot. Mrs. Lucian Fraser, who occupies the suite directly across the hall from King's, said that her radio had been turned on most of the evening and that part of the programme was a drama of underworld warfare. Mrs. Fraser said she might have heard the report of the gun that killed the orchestra leader and thought it was a part of the radio drama."

"C. A. Nelson, living directly above King's apartment, reported that he reached home about 10:30 and had heard no sounds of any sort from the rooms below."

"Two employees of the hotel are said to have given police descriptions of King's mysterious feminine visitor but that description has been withheld from publication. The employees said they saw the woman enter the building but did not see her leave."

"A. B. Knuffman, manager of the State theatre, could ascribe no possible motive for the crime. King's absence last night, he said, was the first time the orchestra leader had missed a performance. During the 10 months in which King was employed at the theatre he had become widely known in musical circles of the city. His engagement to Miss Denise Lang, daughter of Arthur J. Lang, 4862 Sheridan Road, was announced last week.

The marriage was to have been an important social event of the Christmas season.

"Miss Lang, when informed of her fiancé's death, became prostrated."

"I should think she would!" Kate Hewlett interrupted herself matter-of-factly. "That's a silly thing to print. I should think any girl would become prostrated to hear that the young man she was engaged to had been shot and killed. And to think it was by another woman! What did I tell you, David Bannister?"

It was an exclamation, not a question. Bannister did not answer. He had turned away and was looking out through the crisp, white ruffled curtains at the maple trees, almost shorn of their foliage, at the smoothly cut lawn. Last night's rain had brought down many of the yellow leaves. They lay in a scattered, irregular pattern, still wet and glistening in the sunshine.

It was a morning serene and cloudless but, instead of the blue sky and golden sunshine, David Bannister saw dark, drizzling fog. He saw a pair of wide-set gray eyes in a white, glistening, half-hidden in the depths of a tunic; lips that moved tremulously; a small gleaming revolver in the woman's handbag.

Good God, no—it couldn't be! That girl was no murderer. She looked more as though someone had tried to murder her. Frightened within an inch of her life, he had decided, seeing her clearly for that moment just before she disappeared into the hotel.

There was a point, too! Would any woman who had just killed a man walk calmly into the largest hotel in town? She might as well have called at police headquarters and said "Arrest me!"

But there was the headline—"Unknown Blond Is Sought By Police." He could not shake the words from his mind. She was blond. She had come out of the Shelby Arms some time after nine o'clock. She had carried a revolver in her handbag.

"Oh—sorry, Aunt Kate!" Bannister's voice was apologetic. "I'm afraid I wasn't listening. What did you say?"

"No, I should think you weren't listening! I asked if that was Harvey Knowlton who just went past. Was it?"

"Oh, that's right." The woman was mollified. "I guess they did move in after you left." She turned back to the newspaper. "Look," she said, "here's a picture of Denise Lang. And here's another of her with Tracy King."

Bannister crossed the room and inspected the photographs. The face of the pretty, fair-haired girl, who smiled up at him as one he had never seen before. The picture taken with King was a news photograph, showing the couple as they sat, watching a tennis match.

There was another photograph of King, probably made for theatrical use. It showed him as a slender, dark-haired and rather handsome youth.

"He was real good-looking, wasn't he?" Kate Hewlett conceded. "I suppose that's why Denise Lang wanted to marry him."

Bannister picked up the news paper. There was more of the account of the Tracy King murder but the rest was made up of rather inconsequential details. An attempt was underway to trace fingerprints. Police Chief Henley had given out a statement. There were interviews with Link, the hotel clerk, and with a switchboard operator. There was a review of King's career as a musician.

Bannister read it all through hastily, then tossed the newspaper aside. His aunt had begun attacking the breakfast dishes, getting ready to take them to the kitchen.

"Think I'll take a walk down town," Bannister said casually. "It's a fine morning."

"It's all of two miles down to Broad street," his aunt warned. "Exercise will do me good," he told her.

By 11 o'clock that morning David Bannister was still wrestling with his problem. The walk down town had in no wise eased his mind. He could, of course, stroll over to Central headquarters and say to Captain McNeal, "I think I can identify your unknown blond murderer. I think I saw the weapon she used and helped her escape. I think I know the time of the murder."

He could tell McNeal the story and he was certain that, as an ag gressive, thoroughgoing police official, the captain would pounce upon it as first-hand testimony.

Only he couldn't. He remembered that look in the girl's eyes and knew he couldn't do that. He didn't even know her name but he couldn't believe that she had killed a man.

Years of newspaper experience reminded him. "The hardest ones always look the softest."

Even then he couldn't do it. The devil of it was that the problem was getting on his nerves! He wanted to forget the whole thing but he couldn't do that either.

"Damn!" Bannister swore vehemently and decided to buy a New York newspaper. He'd find something to read that wasn't plastered all over with details of Tremont's latest crime.

There was only one place in the city to buy a New York newspaper—the news counter in the Tremont. Bannister went there, threw down a coin and picked up the newspaper.

He hesitated, then started toward the writing room. He had to cross a short passageway that was rather dimly lighted. Bannister took a dozen steps forward and then stopped.

Just ahead, directly facing him, was the girl of the taxi ride—the girl in the green suit!

The force with which the British steamer Silverpalm struck the U. S. cruiser Chicago is graphically shown in the above photo, taken after the light cruiser had limped into San Francisco. The hole in the side is 40 feet wide, and nearly halfway through the hull.

While the British freighter Silverpalm hit the U. S. S. Chicago bow on in their collision in fog 100 miles south of San Francisco, the freighter also received damage. Photo shows the prow of the Silverpalm, smashed back several feet by the impact that drove her half through the Chicago.

With three officers dead and a gaping hole, 40 feet wide, torn in her prow, the U. S. cruiser Chicago limped into San Francisco Bay after a collision with a British freighter. Damage is shown above, where the prow of the freighter drove through armor plate to almost amidships and scraped one of the guns, pictured near top. Officers declared that a "ghost ship" loomed out of thick fog to thrash the cruiser off her course into the position where the collision occurred.

NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that an Extraordinary General Meeting of the above Company will be held at the Board Room of the Company, Exchange Building, (Second floor), Des Voeux Road Central, Victoria, Hongkong, on Tuesday, the 28th day of November, 1933, at 12 Noon when the subjoined Resolutions will be proposed as Special Resolutions, viz:—

(1) That the present authorised Capital of the Company of $5,000,000 divided into 500,000 shares (hereinafter referred to as "old shares") of the nominal value of $10 each, the whole of which have been issued, be increased to $7,500,000 by the creation of 250,000 new shares of the nominal value of $10 each ranking as for dividend as hereinafter mentioned and in all other respects pari passu with the old shares constituting the Company's present issued capital.

(2) That the said 250,000 new shares be offered forthwith in the first instance (in the proportion of one new share for every complete number of two old shares held by them respectively) to the members of the Company who on the 28th day of November 1933, are registered in the Company's Share Register as the holders of the said 500,000 old shares at par and so that on acceptance of such offer the sum of $2.50 per share shall be due and payable leaving the balance due on each of such said new shares of $7.50 per share to be called up at such time or times as the Directors of the Company shall see fit to make Calls in respect thereof and so that such new shares so accepted as aforesaid shall rank for dividend as from First day of January, 1934. And that such offer be made by notice specifying the number of shares to which the member is entitled, and limiting a time within which the offer, if not accepted by the member on behalf of himself or his nominee, will be deemed to be declined, and that the Directors be at liberty to fix such time or times and to extend such time or times to such date or dates, and upon such terms as they may think fit. And further that any of the said new 250,000 shares which shall not be taken by the Company's shareholders in manner aforesaid be disposed of in such manner at such time or times and upon such terms as the Company's Directors shall in their absolute discretion think fit.

(3) That no shareholder shall be entitled to any offer of a fraction of an additional new share in respect of any odd old share held by such shareholder.

The Transfer Books of the Company will be closed from the 26th November 1933, to 28th November 1933, (both days inclusive) during which period no transfer of shares can be registered.

The wedding is announced to take place shortly of William Bozack Harris, police officer, stationed at Shin Tin, to Miss Mary Walker Mitchell, nurse, of Shoreham, Newburgh, N.Y., now on route to the Colony by s.s. Corfu.

OVERSEAS LEAGUE

PENDING VISIT OF MR. LISLE CARR

Information has been received in the Colony that Mr. Lisle Carr, travelling Secretary of the Overseas League, will very shortly be visiting Hongkong.

Mr. Lisle Carr succeeded Mr. Eric Rice in this post of special emissary for the League, the latter gentleman being well-known locally not only for his efforts on behalf of the Overseas League, but also in his official capacity as secretary to Sir Reginald Stubbs, former Governor of the Colony.

Whilst Hongkong is probably one of the most important places in the Far East from a point of view of fostering the aims of the League, it is not only this Colony that Mr. Carr is visiting; his itinerary is an extensive one, covering practically every important place from this side of India to Japan. Although he is due to arrive here probably about the middle of December, the actual date of his coming or how long he will remain in Hongkong is not known. We are informed by the Local Hon. Sec. of the League, however, that an effort will be made to entertain Mr. Carr during his stay, the entertainment to take the form of either an afternoon "At Home" or an evening reception. In the event of this happening the rendezvous will be the Helena May Institute.

The date of the function will be announced later, and local members, of whom it is surprising to learn there are some four hundred, are asked to attend with their friends to meet and welcome Mr. Carr, in this way helping to make the forthcoming entertainment as successful as the previous one held under similar circumstances on behalf of the League. Information can be had on applying to the Hon. Sec. of the League at the Helena May Institute, and a further announcement will appear at a later date.

It may be that individual members of the League will be interested to entertain Mr. Carr, and information in respect of this also can be had on application to the Hon. Secretary, Miss D. W. Westland, Helena May Institute, and facilities afforded to these members.

The P. and O. liner Carthage is due here from Singapore with the English mails at 7 a.m. on Thursday.

"SHE NEEDS RESPIROIDS!"

Sore Throat.

There are many remedies for sore throat but none to surpass Respiroids, the cure which goes direct to the seat of the trouble. At the first signs of soreness slip a Respiroid lozenge into the mouth and allow it to dissolve slowly. Thus highly antiseptic and curative vapours are released which find their way through the wind pipe to the lungs, quickly dispelling the germs, whilst the saliva impregnated with curative elements gently flows down the throat, soothing the affected parts. For sure speedy relief for affections of the throat and the respiratory organs use Respiroids, the new inhalant cough remedy. Obtainable at all medicine deniers, or at $1.20 per box post free, from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., 461, Kiangse Road, Shanghai.

to have the idea he was shooting between rugby posts. Wong Mee-shun, presented with two golden opportunities, shot wildly and missed the goal by yards. Tam Kong-pak only registered one real shot, and that was saved!

And it wasn't only in the shooting department that the Chinese were off colour. Their mid-field movements lacked that cohesion and understanding which has hitherto been such characteristics.

During the whole match I saw only one really praiseworthy constructive attack by the Chinese, and this resulted in their first goal.

The Club's Goals

But the best came from the Club. The first was the culmination of a left wing movement. Bickford sending across the ground first time. Howe made as though to receive it and jumped over the ball to allow Strange to lay it into the net, a rousing shot.

For the second, Ernest Strange took all the honours. Receiving a forward pass from Howe, he was tackled by Li Tin-sang. Strange handed him a real "dummy", feinting as though to pass to Bickford and then cutting through between the back to shoot in a terrific shot with his left foot from 15 yards range.

The third was another Strange-Bickford movement, which allowed Howe to run in and take the ball first.

poorest game of the season. Baldry was little better. Higgins was never given the ghost of a chance either to shine or prove himself a failure. Greenshields was back in the middle line for most of the game, and Hocquard, sorely neglected, could do little on his own.

But if the Army forwards were left to forage for themselves, it can be said that the Chinese vanguard were spoon-fed. Only they swallowed their spoons, threw away their feed, and danced lazily round the ball whilst Allan and Morrison nipped in to save them from tripping over it.

But after allowing for the irresponsibilities of the Chinese forwards, due recognition must be given the Army defence for their excellent work.

Allan was never in difficulties and Morrison emerged a usual with colours flying. Combey, too, extricated his charge from some awkward situations. These were the bright spots in the Army team.

The individual honours among the Chinese were carried off by Li Tin-sang (he nearly scored a goal in the last five minutes), Leung Wing-chui, Loung In-chun and Cheung Pak-shung.

Recaptures Old Form

The two backs held the Army inside trio in a vice-like grip, and had they not allowed themselves to be surprised, the Army goal would never have been scored.

Leung Wing-chui recaptured some of his old form, and both in defence and attack was a leading light.

But entertaining as these individual players were, one had to recognise that the game fell very far short of what was promised and of what the teams were capable.

There was a blank sheet at the interval, which was not surprising as neither sets of forwards looked likely to score in a month of Sundays.

The second half was well advanced when Greenshields turned Baldry's centre to good account.

In the gathering gloom (the game having started late owing to a second division match) the Chinese made half hearted efforts to equalise, the last incident of note being a free kick by Wong Mee-shun which just dropped over the bar.

There was an excellent attendance and the Hon. Mr. R. H. Kotewall kicked off.

beating Wong Wing with a great angle shot.

Success did not come to the Chinese until ten minutes of the second half had elapsed, and then Tam scored as already described. In another ten minutes, the Chinese had registered their second. Strange accidentally handling in the penalty area, and Tam made no mistake.

From then to the end it was a thrilling struggle. South China applied a lot of pressure, although not with any great confidence or skill, and the Club defence came out with flying colours.

LANCASHIRE AND JAPAN

The British Government's attitude in regard to alleged Japanese dumping, that it is better that an agreement be reached between the industrialists of the two countries than that it should be attempted by official intervention, will command fairly widespread approval. Suggestions of retaliatory action by rescission of the commercial treaties between Britain and Japan are not helpful. Such action would only tend to aggravate the situation by raising antagonisms which it were better to avoid. The Simla conversations between Japan and India have apparently been satisfactory, and there is no reason why some sort of understanding cannot be reached as between the industrialists of Lancashire and Japan. At any rate, the attempt is well worth making. If it fails, the position can be reconsidered afresh. It will be time then to talk of other measures. Whilst there cannot be any question of the seriousness of Japanese competition with British products, it has been stated that the greater bulk of Japan's export trade is conducted on a profitable basis. If this is so, then the term "dumping" would seem to call for revision. One of the chief factors in Japan's successful invasion of overseas markets is undoubtedly her low cost of labour. Tariffs cannot wholly overcome the disparity in prices, so that, short of an absolute embargo, which is most inadvisable from many standpoints, it is difficult to see what can be done except by some sort of mutual agreement between the interests affected. So far as Lancashire is concerned, the troubles of the cotton industry are not entirely due to Japanese competition. Though it is highly localised, it is probably true to say that there is no trade in England which is so divided into sections as the Lancashire textile industry, and there is none in which there is more duplication, overlapping and waste. Cotton, like other industries, must regard itself as a unit. The buying of raw cotton, spinning, manufacturing and the selling of the finished products, are all parts of an organised industry. The great need is for some central authority which will control the general policy of the trade—adjusting its internal relations and organising its resources for more efficient production and marketing. The present difficulties make reorganisation imperative and urgent. Wise steps in this direction, coupled with a willingness to enter into friendly conversations with Japan's industrialists, should go at least part of the way in bringing about a more satisfactory state of affairs.

NOTES OF THE DAY

A NEW PHASE

Anyone who has studied the American reaction to the Roosevelt recovery programme cannot have failed to notice that the United States has recently passed from the first phase of this experiment into the second. The first phase was the era of unanimous public approval. Few understood exactly what was going on, but could see that some definite action was being taken, and liked the idea. There were no dissenting voices. Everything that was done drew a round of cheers. Now things are different. Criticism has begun and is getting stronger daily. The various acts of the recovery programme are being submitted to searching analysis, and those who believe they see defects are not slow in calling attention to them.

CRITICISM CERTAIN

It would be a mistake to assume that this criticism proceeds solely from those who have private axes to grind. There is some sniping going on, of course; yet that in itself is not enough to explain the change in the public's attitude. Evidently the Americans simply have come to the end of the period in which their one wish is to see "action and action now." It was impossible to go on cheering for ever over the fact that the administration had recovered from an attack of paralysis. The time had come for the bringing of critical faculties to life.

GOOD FOR ROOSEVELT

This is bound to be a good thing for the Roosevelt administration. No government can give its best if there is a complete and continued absence of criticism. If its every act is hailed as a masterpiece of wisdom, it sooner or later will become like an engine without a flywheel. Perhaps the best thing that could have happened to the recovery programme as a whole is the fact that people now are ready to speak their minds the moment they see a flaw in it. The gold policy is so full of holes that criticism is bound to be concentrated upon it. One after another, leaders are assaulting it, and using effective weapons. Already there has arisen as a direct result talk of early stabilisation of the dollar. If it comes off, it will afford convincing proof of the value of America's changed outlook.

BIG BAD WOLF

One of the pleasantest things about the world-to-day is the fact that at a time like this, when history is being made by wholesale and signs and portents are crossing the sky so fast that they tread on one another's heels, it can devote itself wholeheartedly to a little song about a big bad wolf. The song itself is of the simplest. It points no moral, and, if it adorns a tale, the tale is nothing but a moving picture version of an old nursery fable. But somehow everybody is going for it, whistling it, humming it, grinning fondly over the memory of a couple of pink porkers dancing across a coloured celluloid landscape. There is, in fact, only one disturbing thought in connection with it; the thought that presently the highbrow critics will "discover" it, and will write erudite articles for the reviews telling about the "significance" of these cartoon comedies, discussing their artistic value, and using a lot of four-syllable words to say what the ordinary picture-goer already knows—that these things are a lot of fun, and clever as the dickens.

"BILL" BULLITT

MYSTERY MAN OF AMERICAN DIPLOMACY: AMBASSADOR TO RUSSIA

Mr. William Bullitt, new American Ambassador to Russia, is the mystery man of American diplomacy.

Just as President Wilson and Colonel House dispatched him on a secret mission to Russia nearly 15 years ago to negotiate with the Soviet government, so President Roosevelt employed Mr. Bullitt in the secret preliminaries to the public exchanges of notes with Mr. Kalinin.

On the surface, Pres. Roosevelt merely sent Kalinin a nice letter and Kalinin replied in kind, agreeing to send Mr. Litvinoff to Washington for conversations.

But things never happen that way in international diplomacy. First, you sound out the other fellow confidentially to arrange the official exchange. Roosevelt sent an emissary to Boris E. Skvirsky, Russia's representative in Washington.

Official confirmation conspicuously is lacking, but the emissary is almost certain to have been Mr. William C. Bullitt, Special Assistant to the Secretary of State.

He is a tall, solidly-built, bald, zealous individual of 42, twice married and twice divorced.

He used to be a newspaperman. He comes from Rittenhouse Square in Philadelphia, and made Phi Beta Kappa at Yale. He wrote and talked cleverly, and went on the staff of a Philadelphia newspaper. He was one of the voyagers on Henry Ford's Peace Ship in 1915.

Then he married Ernesta Drinker, a college president's daughter, and spent an odd honeymoon behind the Russian and French fronts with German troops. When America entered the war, he was made an aide to the State Department as an expert on Central European affairs.

When President Wilson sailed for Paris on the George Washington to help make the peace that was to create a new world, Bullitt went along as a member of the American Peace Commission.

SECRET MISSION SENT TO SOUND RUSSIANS.

During the making of the peace, Wilson and Lloyd George hoped to include some understanding with Russia. But as the Allies weren't speaking to the new Russian government at the time, it seemed necessary to send ahead a secret and unofficial mission to sound out Lenin.

The idea apparently was that, armed with a provisional arrangement—Wilson and Lloyd George could finesse France into agreeing, Bullitt, Lincoln Steffens, and others made up the unofficial mission.

They made their way into Russia, something of a trick in those days. A strange peace mission, with Bullitt, Lynch, and a guide named Kill. Arriving in the dark, deserted streets of Petrograd, they met Tchicherin and Litvinoff and went on to Moscow.

There Bullitt tactfully steered his way to a tentative agreement with Lenin, and the mission returned in serious mood to Paris. But the French, meanwhile, had wind of the mission, and were very sore, feeling that things were being done behind their back.

So Mr. Lloyd George utterly repudiated Bullitt, saying he "knew nothing of a journey some boys were reported to have made to Russia." Pres. Wilson refused to see Steffens when he appealed on Mr. Bullitt's behalf.

The Bullitt proposals, including recognition of the Soviet government, went into the waste paper basket.

Bullitt, in bitterness, resigned from the American commission, as did several other younger members, when the final terms of the Versailles Treaty came out. He publicly denounced the Polish Corridor and reparations provisions which have, incidentally, caused trouble ever since.

Said he: "I am going to the Riviera, lie on the sand, kick my heels in the air, and let the world go to hell." So he did, and it did.

But by September, Bullitt was back in Washington, making a full report to the Senate Foreign Relations Committee on his trip to Russia and his observations on the making and terms of the peace treaty.

HELPS WILSON'S FOES TO COMBAT LEAGUE.

And thus it was Wilson's own man, Bullitt, who furnished a good part of the ammunition which the Republican senators—a "little group of willful men"—used in shooting full of holes both the peace treaty and the League of Nations.

Bullitt was divorced, and married Ann Moon Louise Bryant Reed, widow of Harvard Jack Reed, who went to Russia for American radical papers to write the revolution and remained to join it and be buried with honour by the Bolsheviks in the Kremlin wall.

They were divorced in 1930. Bullitt has spent the last 10 years rattling around Europe, renewing contacts there, writing a satiric novel, "It Isn't Done," and establishing a home at Ashfield, Mass.

He knew Franklin D. Roosevelt during the war, and came out in his support during the last campaign, working for the New York headquarters of the Democratic National Committee.

SUSPICIONS AROUSED BY EUROPEAN TOUR.

Last January, Bullitt bobbed up again in Europe, and the U. S. Senate rang with cries that he was representing President-Elect Roosevelt and spreading debt-cancellation propaganda throughout Europe.

What he probably was doing was finding out how European countries liked their relations with Russia.

Roosevelt flatly denied that Bullitt was in any way representing the president-elect, and Bullitt swore he was just travelling around, meeting old friends, and writing a book on diplomacy, which he should be well qualified to do.

But on his return, Bullitt was given a post at the State Department, and is now U.S. Ambassador to Moscow.

The Very Idea!

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

By Eddie "Alibi" Kelly

TALK about calling a spade a spade. If we start using that language we should soon be had up for libel.

There's some people you just can't call by their right name—they'd be offended and passers-by would be offended.

What we're getting at is this matter of alibis. Our friends, the Chinese, have got the system worked out to perfection but we think we aren't so bad ourself.

When a girl rings up the office and asks for Jack we've only got to think a minute and we know which girl it is. If she asks for Henry we've got her name pat but if she asks for Ed, Kelly we're out without a doubt.

On the same principle we know if a bill comes in signed by "Ed Kelly" we only have to go round the small circle of people who know our identity to find out who perpetrated the fraud.

Of course there are some names we don't answer to in any circumstances. When the Editor calls out "Hero you—fool!" we make him repeat it three times before we move. What makes him mad is when we say "Are you referring to us?" in a sort of superior tone that makes him feel he may be mistaken after all.

When we signed our contract and went down the line we really thought that what the papers said was true. We expected to meet lots of the coves whose names fill up the various pages. But did we? Did we, heck!

We had a reader come in the other day who had followed one of the racing forecasts and had paid for his experience. He was one and half month's salary ahead of his pocket money and wanted to tell "Surething" a few more.

Well, he goes up to the horsetest looking individual in the office and says "Look here, my man, do you know anything about racing?"

"Oh no! Sir," says the individual in a kind of high voice, "I look after the Lady's Page."

The fellow looks at him suspiciously and says, "Oh yeah???" in a nasty way.

"Sure thing," says the individual, blushing a little.

The man with the grievance waits till another fellow comes in to the office and he goes up and asks him his name.

It was only after he had interviewed "Per-gauge," been snapped at by "Ace" and had been told that "The Spectator" was out and that "Pilgrim" and "Veritas" had absconded that he gave in.

As he was going out some helpful chap met him at the doorway and asked him if he wanted to see anybody. "Nertz!" says the man with a grievance, and makes to get away.

"Wait a minute, perhaps I can help you," says the helpful one. "I write the agricultural notes."

The chap was so upset that he fell down the steps and had to be helped out by "Leg-break."

When his groans had died away in the distance, the Editor crawled out from under his desk.

MISTAKES

When a garage man makes a mistake, he adds it to your bill.

When a carpenter makes a mistake, it's just what he expected.

When a preacher makes a mistake, no one knows the difference.

When a lawyer makes a mistake, it was just what he wanted, because he has a chance to try the case all over again.

When a doctor makes a mistake, he buries it.

But when an editor makes a mistake—GOOD NIGHT!

STRIKE SETTLED

FATSHAN TO GO BACK ON RUN

The Telegraph learns that the long-drawn-out strike against Messrs. Butterfield and Swire in Canton has been definitely settled. It is understood that the s.s. Fatshan will resume service on the Canton run on Thursday, and that the China Navigation Company's coastal steamers have already been given instructions to resume calling at Canton.

The terms of the agreement have not been officially disclosed, but it is stated that they provide for the reinstatement of dismissed employees.

UNION STATEMENT.

Announcing the ending of the strike the Chinese Seamen's Union issued a circular telegram a free translation of which reads thus:—
To the South West Executive Council of the Central Kuomintang, the South West Executive Council of the National Government, the Provincial Government of Kwangtung, all Branches of the Chinese Seamen's Union, all Government Departments, all Societies and Unions, and all newspapers and Journals:

In order to effect a satisfactory settlement of the tragic incident of the s.s. Woosung, one of the many steamers of the China Navigation Company plying along the Yangtze River, we had resolved and put into operation a boycott of all the ships of the said Company calling here on the 15th day of June in the 22nd year of the Republic of China.

OVER FIVE MONTHS.

This boycott had lasted for the lengthy period of five months and ten days, and now in compliance with the request of the various sections of the community of this Municipality to effect an early settlement on account of external aggression and internal trouble, we have on the 25th day of November signed in conjunction with the representative of the Butterfield & Swire Company, Mr. Loke, an Agreement to call off the boycott and to re-establish friendly relations with the said Company. In addition to the calling back of the tea-boys of the s.s. Woosung by the said Company for re-organization, the Agreement also stipulates that after due compensations being made, the seamen and workmen on the s.s. Fat Shan, the godowns and steam launches are to resume work as before. We beg to offer our heartfelt thanks to the merchants and others for their loyal support and kind sympathy in the most critical moments of our unequal struggle with the said Company.

FINE DISPLAY OF PEARLS

Mr. Kodaka, the well-known Japanese pearl-merchant, whose annual exhibitions in Hongkong have become an established event at this time of the year, is again here and will show his collection at Messrs. Komor and Komor's as usual, commencing to-day, continuing for ten days only.

Last year Mr. Kodaka was unable to visit the Colony on account of the fact that he responded to an invitation to exhibit at Amsterdam, where record business was done. Whilst in Europe he also visited Berlin, Brussels, Paris and other important centres, and whilst there secured a large number of the latest designs in jewellery mounted, which he is now showing here.

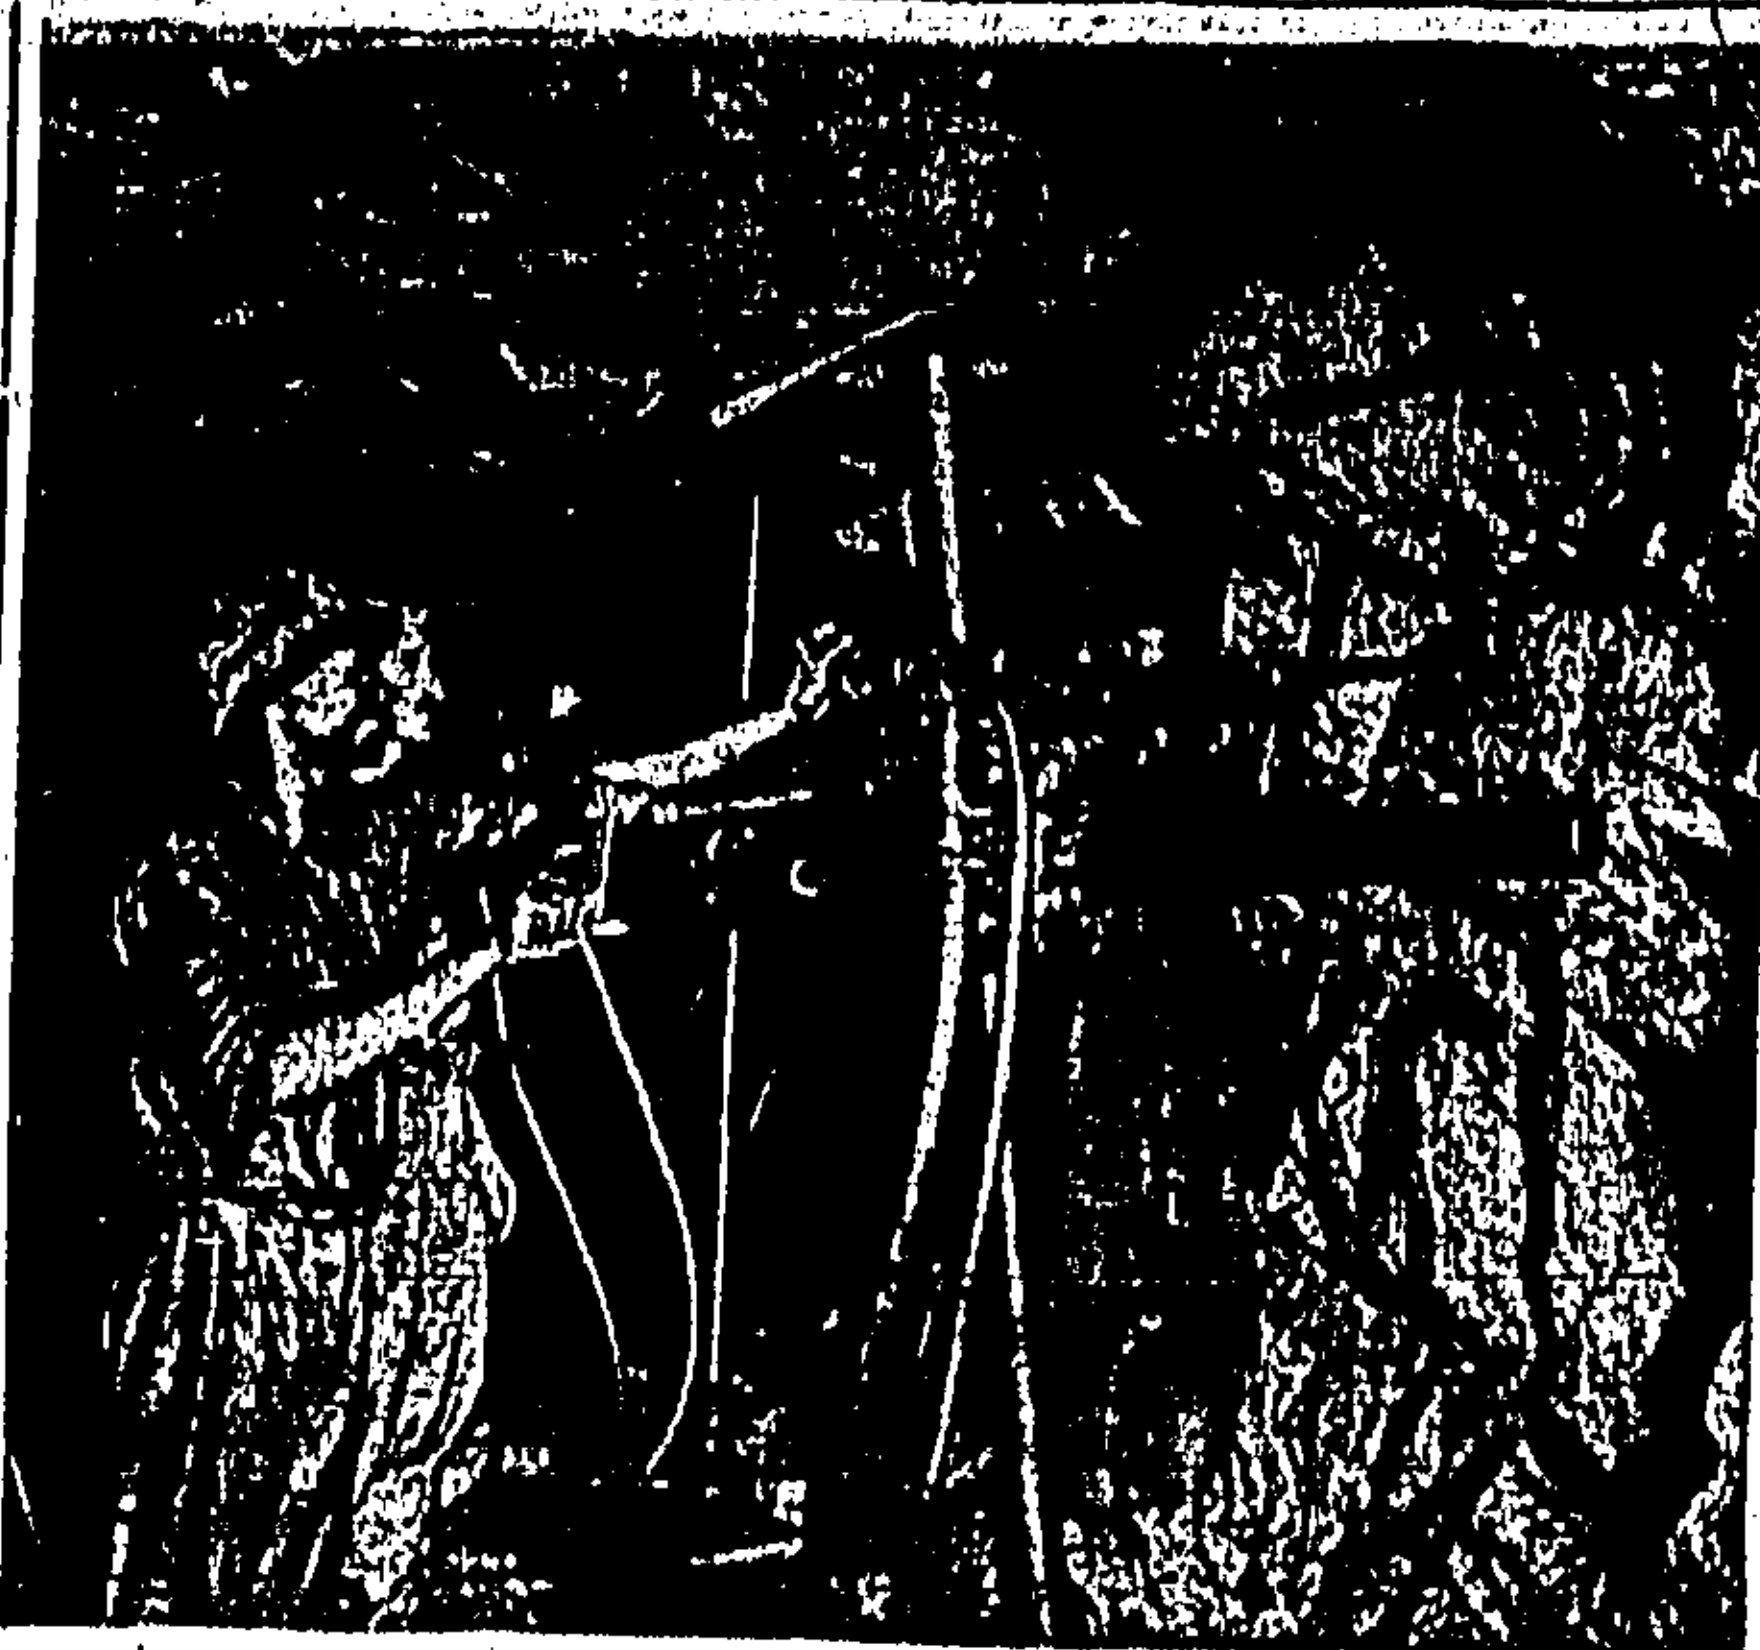

Cultured pearls are much sought after in Europe, and at the present moment prices are lower than they have ever been owing to the extremely favourable exchange. It should be noted that Mr. Kodaka's visit this year is for ten days only, as he has other important engagements to fulfil.

NAVAL YARD MAN MISSING

CHINESE NOT SEEN SINCE FRIDAY

The police have been notified that Kam Hon, aged 37 years, employed at the Naval Yard, has been missing from his home at 14, Bowring Street, since 9.30 p.m. on the 24th.

He had been playing a game of mah jong, and excusing himself after one of the hands, he left the room, and has not been seen since.

cumbent upon every citizen to work wholeheartedly for the welfare and for the very existence of the country. While the Government is doing its very best in negotiating with foreign powers to maintain China's sovereignty and interests, and in stamping out communistic members to secure permanent peace and order, the Fukien secessionists engineered by Chen Ming-shu and Li Chai-sun, have openly revolted against the National Government.

MIXED CROWD.

In so doing, they have rallied around themselves the Socialists, the Nationalists, the Reactionists, and the Third Party. They have deserted the Kuomintang, defied the national flag, and betrayed the Chinese nation.

They supply provisions, arms and ammunition to the Communists and are undoing what the National Government has done at a tremendous cost in the past year.

In harbouring the dangerous Communists, the revolutionists in Fukien are converting Fukien into a second Kiangsi, and in befriending our ambitious neighbour, they are turning Fukien into another Manchuria.—Wah Kiu Yat Po.

DAY BY DAY NEWS IN BRIEF

A FAIR WOMAN SHALL NOT ONLY COMMAND WITHOUT AUTHORITY BUT PERSUADE WITHOUT SPEAKING.—Sir Philip Sidney.

There will be a dinner dance at Repulse Bay Hotel on Saturday, December 2nd, and a tea dance on Sunday, December 3rd at 4.30 p.m.

A Chinese man, aged 50, Su Kun, after admission to the Kwong Wah Hospital at Yaumati yesterday, was found to be a leper. Prior to deportation, he has been transferred to the isolation hospital at Kennedy Town.

Kwong Shiu-kai, aged 25, was removed to the Government Civil Hospital from the Wanchai Police Station yesterday, suffering from opium-poisoning believed to have been the result of an attempt to commit suicide.

While the Court was in session at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning, Mr. Wynne-Jones saw one man smoking and another wearing a hat. He called them both up and fined the first $3 and the other $2. Both pleaded ignorance.

Seen carrying two baskets of coal in Yaumati early yesterday morning, Lo Yin, unemployed, was arrested on suspicion and later admitted having stolen the coal from the M.B.K. yard at Yaumati. Before Mr. Wynne-Jones this morning, he was sentenced to one month's hard labour.

Remanded from Saturday on charges of the possession of 140 taels of raw opium and returning from banishment, Chen Hon appeared before Mr. Hamilton at the Central Police Court this morning and pleaded guilty. On the charges of possession he was fined $4,000 or one year's hard labour, and was sentenced to six months on the banishment charge, concurrent with first penalty.

WILLING TO MARRY GIRL

YOUTH CHARGED WITH HARBOURING

Kwok Kam Wing, 22, unemployed, pleaded guilty on his appearance before Mr. Balfour at the Central Police Court this morning to a charge of harbouring an unmarried girl, Leung Sham, aged 15.

Det-inspector Elston said in November last year the girl was missing from her home in West Point. She was recovered the day before yesterday, staying with the defendant. It appeared that the couple had been staying in the country until a few weeks ago. The defendant admitted the charge, but asked leave to marry the girl. The parents were willing to consent to this, and he would ask for a remand for the S.C.A. to consider the point.

Defendant was remanded for 48 hours.

PICK-POCKET GAOLED

DISAPPOINTED IN HAUL

Ho Chung-hi, unemployed, was sent to prison for six months by Mr. Balfour at the Central Police Court this morning for stealing $25 from a compatriot.

Defendant pleaded that he needed the money for his illness. Inspector K. W. Andrew said defendant approached complainant and snatched the money from his jacket pocket. Defendant stated he was under the impression the man had four or five hundred dollars and that it would be worth while stealing, he added.

Defendant, it was stated, was an ex-banished.

PEAK JEWELLERY THEFT

PEKING CHINESE SENTENCED

A total of one year's imprisonment was passed by Mr. Hamilton, at the Central Magistracy this morning, on a Peking man, Yu Chun-hoi, charged with the theft of jewellery to the value of $2,800 from No. 408, The Peak, the property of Mr. J. D. Lloyd, Superintendent of Imports and Exports, and with being found in Nos. 409 and 516, The Peak, with intent to commit a felony.

The defendant had at his first appearance pleaded guilty to the charge of theft, and said that he went to the other houses to look for a friend.

Sub-Inspector Shepherd, of the Peak police, said defendant was found on the stairs of No. 409. He was heard to go in by the No. 2 boy, and when he was asked what he was doing there, he could give no intelligible answer, but wrote down "The National City Bank of New York" on a slip of paper. The adjoining house was occupied by the local manager of the National City Bank. The defendant had already been to Mr. Lloyd's house, but had not stolen anything, but after he left No. 409 he went back again and stole the jewellery. Two days later he was found at No. 516.

Chan Yuk-fat, the No. 2 boy at No. 409, said that he was Mr. F. C. Jenkin's house boy. On Nov. 9, between 2.15 p.m. and 2.30 p.m., he noticed defendant passing the door of the lavatory outside the house. Witness went to the servants' quarters but could not find defendant there. He then went into his master's quarters and found defendant on the stairs. He asked defendant who he was and what he was doing, but defendant spoke in a dialect he did not understand. He then gave defendant a pencil and paper, and defendant wrote down the residence of the manager of the National City Bank of New York. He told defendant he had come to the wrong place, and said that it was No. 408. He sent defendant with a small boy to No. 408.

OTHER EVIDENCE.

Li Yin, (14), houseboy, said he pointed out No. 408 to defendant. He saw defendant go as far as the kitchen and then turn back. Later he saw defendant walking towards No. 409 again. He did not see defendant enter the kitchen of No. 408.

Mr. E. Tinson, residing at No. 516, The Peak, said he had never seen the defendant before, and had not given him authority to be on the premises.

Mr. F. C. Jenkin, residing at No. 409, The Peak, also gave similar evidence.

Pang Kau, a house cooler at No. 516, said that on November 11 he saw defendant inside the house in a passage way in his master's quarters. Defendant said he was looking for a man named Lo Choi. Witness turned defendant out of the house, and on seeing the No. 2 boy coming in, he informed him of the matter. The No. 2 boy telephoned to his master, and after that they handed defendant over to a constable. Later they came back with defendant to the house, and a search was made. They found a newspaper on a dressing table in the visitor's room. Defendant denied it was his.

The Tau, the No. 2 boy, corroborated, and said he had never seen defendant before.

DEFENDANT'S STORY.

Defendant stated that the paper belonged to him. At No. 409 the boy was asked to take him to the next house, but he was only pointed out the house. He went to the door, and as there was no one there he let. He had some information that a friend of his was working at the residence of the manager of the National City Bank of New York, and he was looking for him. At No. 516, he met someone outside the door, who, in answer to his query, just pointed towards the house. He thought this was an indication that his friend was inside, and therefore went in. It might have been a misunderstanding, as he could not understand his language. He had no intention of committing a felony.

Mr. Hamilton passed sentence of six months on the charge of theft and three months each on the other two charges, the sentences to run consecutively.

MR. SMITH DISCHARGED FROM HOSPITAL

Inquiries at the Government Civil Hospital this morning revealed that Mr. Frank Smith, who collapsed outside St. John's Cathedral yesterday morning, was discharged from hospital to-day, having made a quick recovery.

Mr. Smith was waiting for the morning service when he collapsed and was taken to hospital in an unconscious condition.

CROSS-BAR BICYCLE PASSENGERS

Question of Danger to Public

Whether carrying a man on the cross-bar of a bicycle constitutes dangerous riding was discussed at the Kowloon Magistracy this morning when a Chinese youth was charged before Mr. Wynne-Jones with riding a bicycle to the danger of the public.

Inspector Bloor told his Worship that defendant carried a passenger, who was sitting on the cross-bar.

The Magistrate.—Is that really dangerous? I think it is a recognised way of carrying a passenger, especially a child.

Inspector Bloor.—I think so, your Worship. The man riding would not have full control of the bicycle.

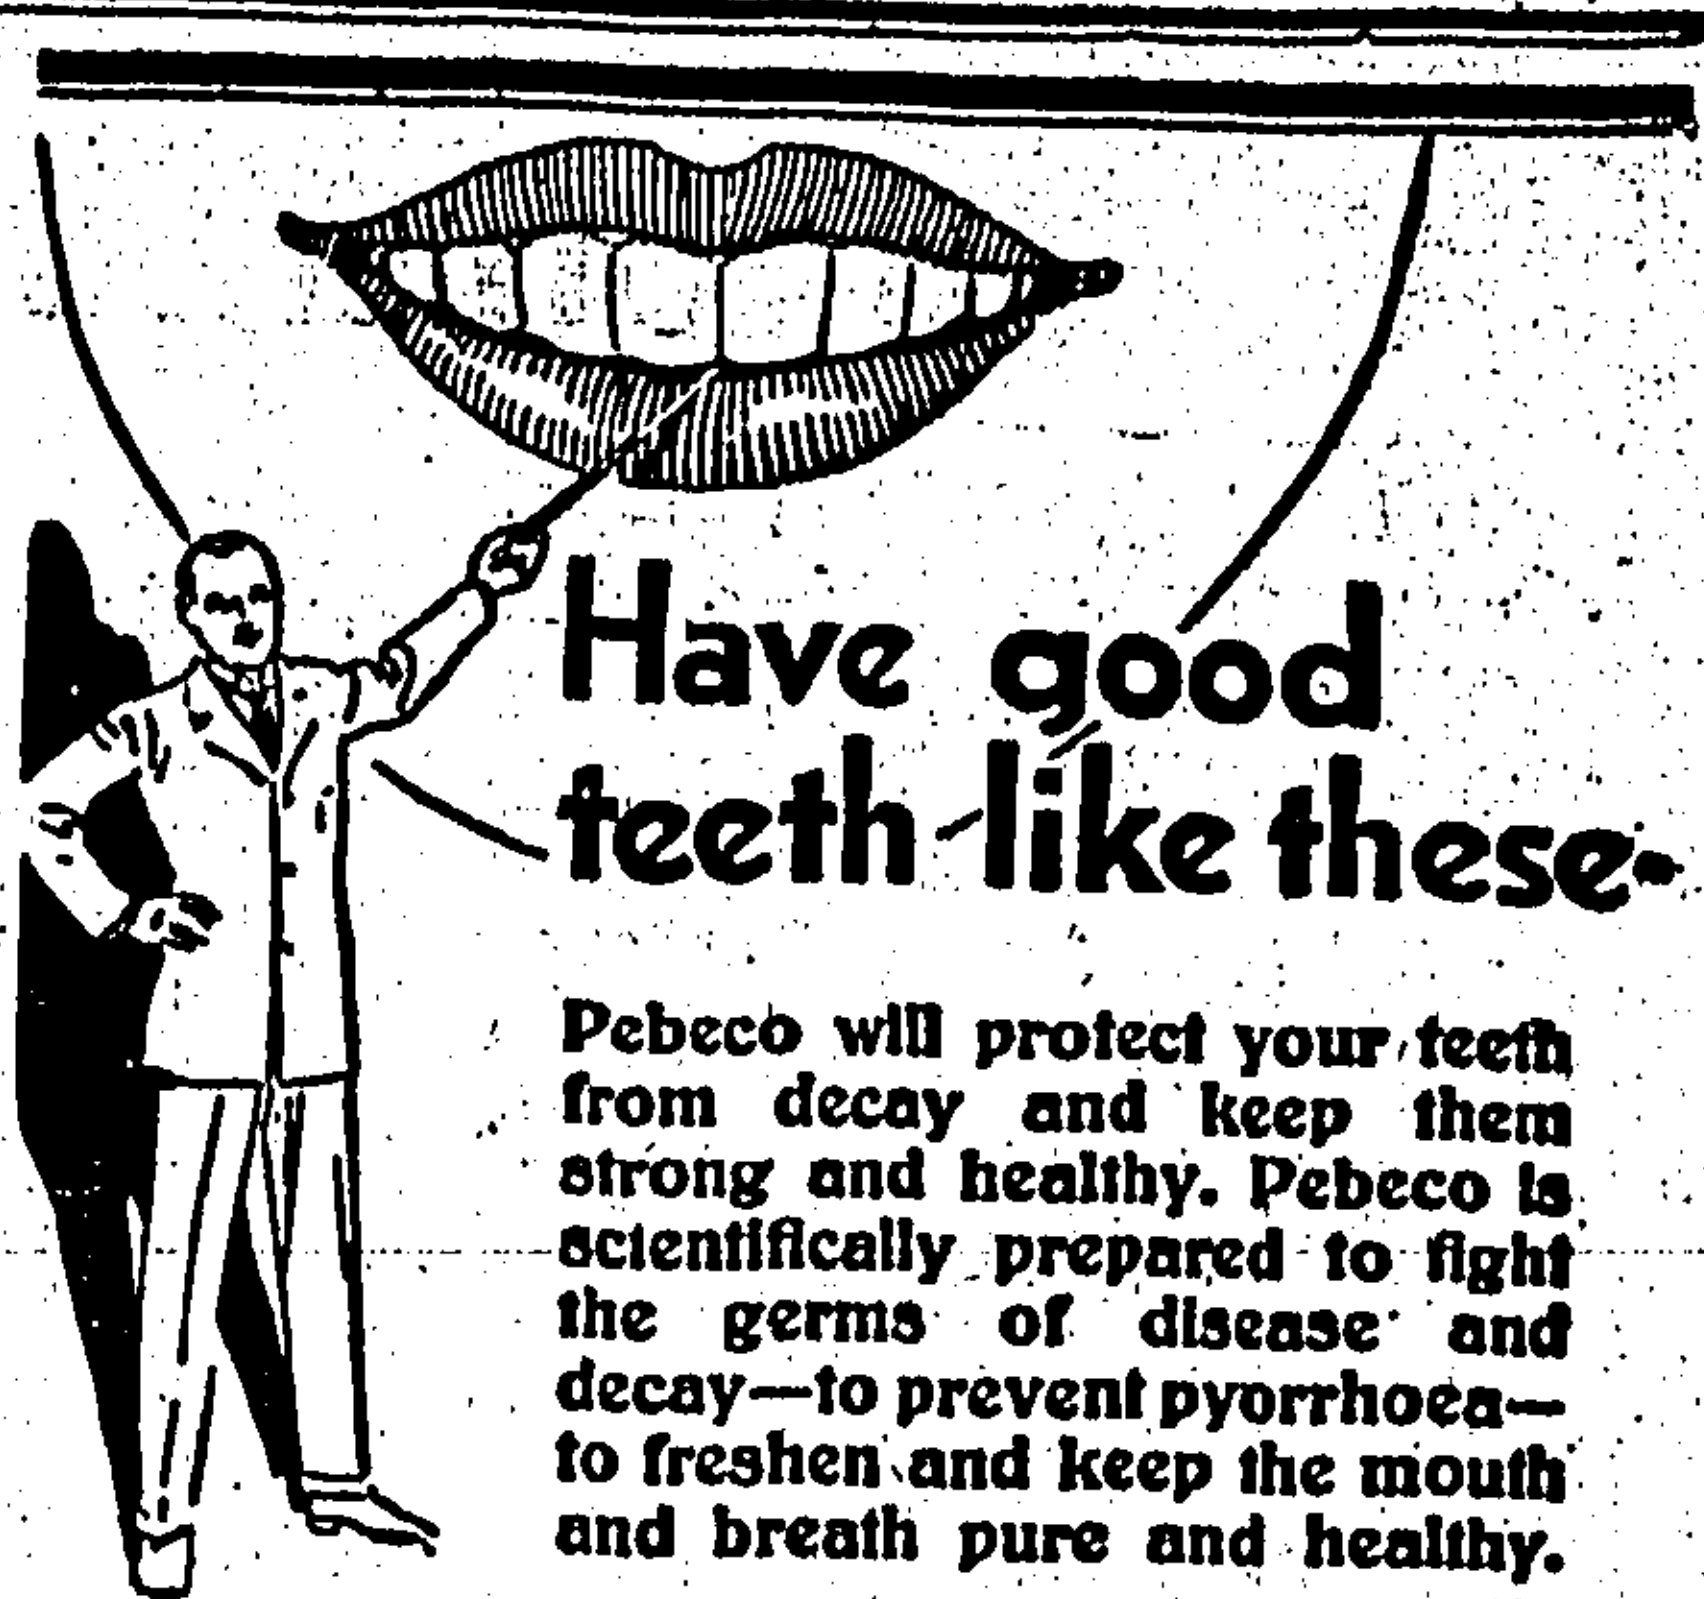

Mr. Wynne-Jones.—I don't think carrying a man on the cross-bar would impede the driver at all? I leave it entirely in your Worship's hands. In the past we have prosecuted people for carrying passengers on the cross-bar, but if your Worship will make a ruling, we'll know where we stand.

Mr. Wynne-Jones.—I don't want to rush in blindly, but I don't think there is much danger in carrying a person on the cross-bar. I would convict right away if defendant had carried a man on the handle-bar. Even a man on the cross-bar would not give the driver full control of the bicycle.

Oh, come! I don't see why not. I used to carry people on the cross-bar and always had full control of my bicycle. I used to carry my younger brother for miles and there was never any objection that I was driving to the danger of the public.—The Ordinance says that the circumstances of the case must be taken into consideration.

Yes, and one of the principal circumstances is whether the driver has full control of the bicycle. You have to prove that, haven't you? I think in this case, I'll dismiss defendant with a caution, but in future, I would like to have all the circumstances, that is where the place is, how big the passenger is, etc. I would like to know everything before I say a man is riding to the danger of the public.—Very good, your Worship.

Defendant was accordingly dismissed with a caution.

ASTONISHING reversals of form not only incurred two surprise results on Saturday, but created quite a new position in the league table of the first division of the local football league. Thanks to the defeat of the Lincolns and South China, both St. Joseph's and the Navy improved their standings. The Borderers also benefitted. THE Club are gradually proving to be South China's bogey team. For the second year the Europeans gained an unexpected victory. Kowloon were again unlucky: the Lincolns were beaten by a better team: the Police were made to look third rate by the Borderers.

KOWLOON COLLAPSE IN LAST FEW MINUTES

By "Wanderer."

Navy 6 Kowloon 2

It was bewildering to see Kowloon go down so heavily after a brilliant exhibition in the first half when their re-arranged attack played delightfully attractive football with real idea and purpose behind it.

Nothing better has been seen on the Kowloon ground or on many other grounds this season than the swift passing bouts which swept them through the Navy defence time and again, with Lewis, Hill and Timberlake in particularly dashing form.

The reward reaped consisted of two perfect goals, both scored by Lewis and both worked for in the same way. The Navy defence failed to get near the ball, the final movement in each case developing when Timberlake made a perfect through pass for Lewis to snap up the ball clear of the backs and score at his ease.

Disputed Goal

Yet Kowloon went into the clubhouse at half-time with the position no better than a two-nil draw. In one of the Navy rushes, Skinner scored from thirty yards range with a glorious shot which Cook made no attempt to save, apparently thinking that, like a very similar shot shortly before, it would pass over the bar. And near the interval, Smith drove in and a hotly disputed goal was awarded to the Navy. Willis kicked the ball clear and the more fact that the ball finally lodged in the stand behind the goal casts doubt on the justice of the referee's award. It is difficult to explain how Willis could kick the ball round the post if it had passed inside.

Even in the second half, when the Navy clearly reversed the run of play and indulged in the bulk of the attacking work, no-one anticipated the final result. Only fifteen minutes were left for play when Langmead burst through the Kowloon backs to put the Navy into the lead for the first time with a splendid goal, and then Kowloon came back strongly for Blake to put in two rasping drives, the first of which Liddington saved but failed to hold, Elliott handling the rebound to spoil a great chance, and the second of which missed the left-hand post by inches.

The effort having failed, Kowloon showed their bolt and five minutes from the end, Willis put through his own goal trying to clear, the defence crumpling up completely from that moment. Langmead scored two further goals, one three minutes from the end and the other one minute from time.

Weak Kowloon Backs

For Kowloon it was a disastrous finish to a great game in which for the most part they had given as good a display of real football as they are likely to give this season, until those last five fatal minutes. Their only weakness was at back where Willis and Martin at no time inspired confidence.

In the first half, Kowloon's half-backs held the fort magnificently and kept pressure off the rearguard. But in this need, which was only too obvious, they were overworked and it was not surprising to find them struggling to raise a gallop in the closing stages. Pope, who came into the Kowloon eleven at right half for the first time, rivalled Ward of the Navy as the best half on the field. He was a better offensive half than defensive, but against the most dangerous raider on the Navy side, Skinner, Pope more than held his own for the greater part of the game, while Ward, added by the fact that Elliott was inclined to hang back in his new position at inside-left, had Kowloon's left wing fairly under control.

McGuire played a nice game at centre-half in the second half, distributing the ball with splendid judgment, while Kowloon's pivot, Jones, was a curious mixture.

His tackling was well-timed and accurate and his passing good, but several times the eye caught him standing still waiting for something to happen when he should have been making his contribution.

Blake had a hard day, running between Smith and the speedy Hudspeth, Martin failing to back him up.

Navy Well Balanced

Taking the game by and large, Kowloon looked a highly efficient team when attacking. When the tide ran against them, their defensive weaknesses were apparent. The Navy were a well-balanced side fore and aft, over pursuing the direct method, clean and incisive in most of their work, solid rather than brilliant, always pegging away, even when their defence was having a trying time.

Tennessy, Kowloon:—Cook; Willis, Martin; Pope, Jones, Bliss; Hill, Lewis, Timberlake, Elliott, Blake.

Navy: Lindington; Buchanan, West; Purkins, McGuire, Ward; Hudspeth, Smith, Langmead, Barnett, Skinner.

(By "Veritas").

South China 2 Club 3

I AM not certain if I owe the Club an apology, or whether it is due from South China to those of us who had such faith in them as to be prepared to put our last shirt on their winning.

In any case it is a moot point, and if, in my pre-match comments, I refrained from holding out any hope for the Club, it gives me double the pleasure here and now to acknowledge their brilliant success of Saturday.

It is not the first time the Club have proved champion-beaters, and in defeating South China by the odd goal in five at Caroline Hill they were merely repeating history.

But this time there was nothing fluky about it. Any other result would have been distinctly uncomplimentary to the Club. On Saturday they beat South China on their merits, nothing more nor less.

Before particularising, I think this match can be described as a triumph of quiet determination over lethargic nonchalance, born of over-confidence. And although generalising is not to be regarded as the best method of expression, I am prepared to go as far as asserting that Ernest Strange beat South China in the first ten minutes of the game, when he not only scored two of the peachiest goals imaginable, but put the Chinese defence on such tenderhooks, that they were never able to settle down.

Contributing Factors

The Club finished the first 35 minutes with three goals to the good. The chief contributing factors were their extra speed to the ball, and their fast moving of the ball when in possession.

There was no sugar coating to the Club movements. They were made with a purpose (and with such precision as to satisfy one that they were also pre-conceived.) The ball travelled fast and accurately from player to player, with each of the three goals the materialisation of this plan of campaign.

It was quite a new interpretation by the Club of the rules of vanguard play, and if they could guarantee to apply it each week, I can see many teams stopping them from winning.

The display of Ernest Strange brought home more forcibly than ever before how rich local football is at the present with inside lefts. We have Ridley of the Lincolns, Hazlewood of the Borderers, Tam Kong-Pak of South China and Strange of the Club. Their current form makes them all candidates for the highest local honours.

This was undoubtedly Strange's finest display since being elevated to the senior team. His game was a happy mixture of constructive individualism (per that second goal), opportunism, and skilful combination. In other words he did the right thing at the right moment.

Hoplessly At Sea

In the first half Li Tin-sang was hopelessly at sea with the Bickford. Strange alliance. Leung In-chun gave even less of them. Bickford introduced a new and successful note into his methods. As soon as he received the ball anywhere near the corner flag, he despatched it first time along the ground to the centre. It produced the Club's first and third goals.

In stating that the whole of the Club's attacking movements came from the left wing, it suggests that the forward line was unbalanced. Up to a point this was true. Fowler had a real off day, and was obviously still suffering from the effects of his injury.

But Howe led the forwards well until a wrenched knee fifteen minutes from the end put him off the field for the remainder of the game. Dominy, although out of touch with the attacks, was playing to instructions, and as a fourth half did his share of good work.

I raise my hat to Andy Duncan! He gave his best display of appalling work in two years. Yeung Shui-yick, the only forward in the early stages who suggested danger to the Club defence, was, before the end, subjugated by the indomitable half back, whose interceptions and tackling made him the best intermediate on the field.

The absence of Skinner and Robertson sadly weakened the Club half back line. Boyd (in the pivotal position) and Rawlins stuck gamely to their job, and was their determination which pulled them through a big ordeal.

stages, but it was Desmond Hynes, whose faithful shadowing of Tam Kong-pak rendered impotent that young player, who caught the eye in the last quarter of an hour.

Quick and sure in his tackling, Hynes warded off many threatening situations.

Lowson, again deputising for Fogwell in goal, had very little to do so efficiently was he covered, and so effectively did South China shoot.

But in the first half he did clear his lines particularly well when Tam Kong-pak got in a characteristic first timer, and once or twice before the close, he ran out and relieved the backs.

Without desiring to take any gilt off the success enjoyed by the Club, I do not hesitate in claiming that South China largely contributed to their own defeat.

Too Much Fag!

The whole team played as though it was too much fag to do so. There wasn't a sparkle in any of the attacks; the half backs broke down completely, and Li Tin-sang and Lau Mau, thrown back on their own resources, were forced to realise their shortcomings.

The collapse of the intermediate line made all the difference between victory and defeat; for in the second half the forwards might have scored a few goals had they been properly supported. Not even Leung Wing-chui could get going. His passes went all astray, and he never looked capable of stopping Strange.

Even the obvious left wing deficiency, it is difficult to make Wong Mee-shun. Excuses for the atrocious play of the inside forwards, Pau Ka-ping seemed

ONLY A FEW PLAYERS TOUCH REAL FORM

(By "Veritas").

Combined Chinese 0 Army 1.

Not even the worthy object of this match—the swelling of the Tung Wah Hospitals' coffers—could wholly compensate for the disappointment given the spectators by both teams.

For two evenings, supposedly representative of some of the best football talent in the Colony, their display was appalling. Even the Chinese on the cumshaw hillside found it difficult to raise excited and enthusiastic "Hei-yas" at the display!

That the Chinese lost was completely their own fault. Perhaps some of my readers are becoming a little tired of me continually offering this as one of the reasons for a Chinese defeat. But in this case it is fairly incontrovertible. They had a major share of the play, with a pronounced superiority in midfield but with pattern-weaving being overdone, and forwards who lost all sense of direction in their shooting, their chances of winning faded as the game wore on.

Only Few Exceptions

With two or three exceptions, the players seemed unable to produce anything like their ordinary form. Only Allan, Li Tin-sang, Leung Win-chui, and in a slightly lesser degree, Morrison and Combey touched any standard above mediocrity.

An illustration of the inconsistencies of the game was furnished in the winning goal. It was scored by Greenshields, who throughout had played as though he was entirely out of his class of football.

There were several spicely and entertaining pieces of individual cleverness in the match, but the team work served up was very uncomplimentary to the real meaning of that phrase.

Both teams made changes. Lau Mau was an absentee, and Cheung Pak-shung came in at right back, Li Tin-sang switching over to left.

Spoon-Fed Forwards

Even with these altered line-ups, one fully expected to see a brighter show. But the Army half backs could never settle down, and although useful in defence, offered little or no assistance to their forwards.

Harris at inside left played his

Soccer Shorts & Sidelights

(Conducted By "Veritas")

THERE were sufficient surprises in the week-end results to make football fans sit up and take notice.

THE Club take order of precedence. And this time there was no sneering "lucky" to be shouted about the clubhouses. The Club won because they were the better team. South China, I am sure would be the first to acknowledge this.

THE way those reserves came in to the Club team and out all their heart into the job was a great sight. They may have been lacking in finesse, but when it came to grit and determination, they held their own with the best.

INCIDENTALLY Skinner was kept out of the team owing to an injury sustained at practice on Thursday. It seems he was about to shoot, when tackled from behind, and his foot was badly hurt.

AFTER seeing both Chinese games this week-end I am convinced they have lost a lot of speed. The same neat inter-passing is there, but the ball is not moved quickly enough, allowing a nimble defender the opportunity of intercepting. This was made especially evident yesterday.

ST. Joseph's have made me bite my words with a vengeance. To trounce the winning Athletic by 4-1 is no mean feat. No Sir! My congratulations "A.V." and colleagues!

OCCUPIED at Caroline Hill, I was unable to see the match, but I am told St. Joseph's called the tune for the better part of the game, and that their forwards, (who can be nippy and penetrative when they like) had the Lincolns' rearguard at sixes and sevens.

IT is no excuse for the soldiers' defeat to state that Ridley was suffering from an injury and was therefore handicapped. But equally so it will not be denied that it meant an all-round reduction in the strength of the forward line.

WHICH is tantamount to saying that without Ridley on top form, the Lincolns lose much of their potentiality. Which, further, I do not deny.

UNDERWOOD, the Borderers' left half, who was recently suspended for his part in a fracas with Tay Qua-tong of South China is not likely to appear again for the 24th this season.

IT is said that the Powers That Be, other than the Football Association, have taken a serious view of the case.

A PART from this Underwood would find it difficult to reclaim his position, for Jones is proving such an adept substitute, and Hazlewood such a brilliant successor to "Hooker" at inside left, that the Borderers would naturally hesitate to change their winning combination.

PERRY'S YEAR OUTSTANDING FEATS

CRAWFORD AGAIN BEATEN

Melbourne, Nov. 25. Fred Perry, Britain's No. 1 ranking player, and holder of the U.S. tennis title, defeated Jack Crawford in the final of the Victorian Championship to-day by scores of 6-4, 2-6, 6-4, 6-3.

The splendid accuracy of his shots and his indomitable fighting spirit earned for Perry his victory, which was thoroughly deserved.

Crawford, holder of the Wimbledon, French, and Australian titles, gave a mingled display of brilliant and mediocre tennis. He undoubtedly lost to the better man on the day's play. —Reuter.

PERRY'S GREAT YEAR.

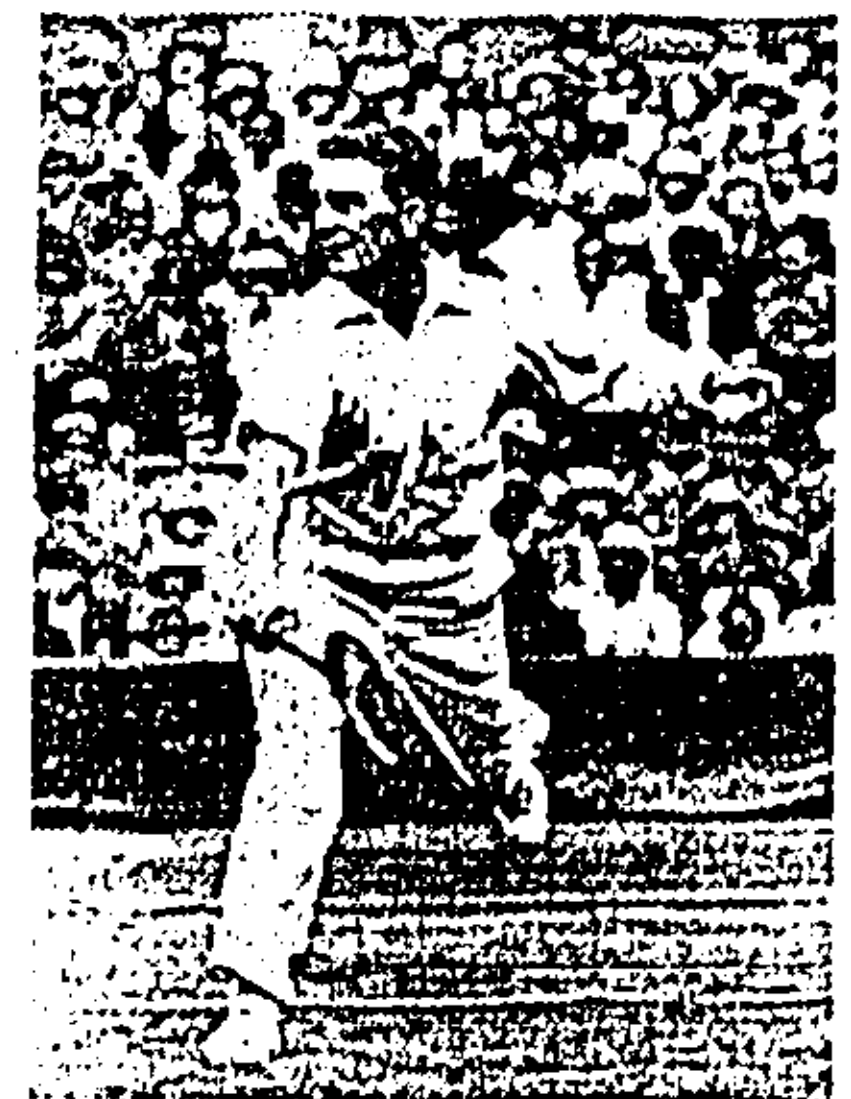

This year has been the most successful in the meteoric career of Perry.

He came into his own in the Davis Cup, after failing at Wimbledon.

In the Inter-Zone final against America, he beat Wilmer Allison 6-1, 7-5, 6-4, and in a brilliant display against Vines, beat the American 1-6, 6-0, 4-6, 7-5, 7-6, 10-15, Vines collapsing in a faint at this point and retiring.

Subsequently in the Challenge Round, Perry covered himself with glory, firstly beating Henri Cochet 8-10, 6-4, 8-6, 3-6, 6-1, and then overcoming Andre Merlon 6-3, 6-4, 6-0.

Making the trip to America as an official representative of the English L. T. A., Perry crowned

J. Crawford.

his achievements by winning the U. S. championship, defeating J. Crawford in the final 6-3, 11-13, 4-6, 6-0, 6-1.

Later Perry won the Pacific South-West Championship in face of severe opposition, overcoming Jiro Satoh in the final 6-4, 1-6, 6-3, 7-5.

Jean's Dream Wins By Half A Length.

FREE FARE SECOND.

London, Nov. 25. Twenty-eight started for the Manchester November Handicap, which resulted as follows: 1. Jean's Dream (Dines) 1. Free Fare (Sam Wragge) 2. Bon Soldat (Sirett) 3. The odds were 20 to one, nine to one and 50 to one respectively. Won by half a length, and three lengths. Quick rode Air Captain and Disarmant was ridden by Roy. Isthmus by Cumliffe, Bulandhar by Bullock and Blanderna by Brennan. Sans Envol was the only last-minute withdrawal. —Reuter.

HELP NAVY TO WIN

H.K. CLUB AGAIN BEATEN

(By Line Out)

The Navy scored another win over the Club Rugby fifteen on Saturday at Happy Valley.

This time the Club managed to keep the score against them down to 19 points (two goals and three tries), but they failed to score themselves, although they had opportunities.

Robertson cut through very nicely on two occasions, but he is not quite fast enough for an attacking player, although very sound in defence.

The Club forwards, led exceptionally well by Bradford, who captained the side in the absence of Selby, played much better rugby than previously. They did not get much of the ball in the tight scrums, but held well in the loose.

FORBE'S REVERSE PASSES.

Meeke played scrum half in the place of Selby and gave a very good display. He had Forbes as his opposite number, and as the latter played brilliantly, the Club man had a rather bad time.

Forbes' reverse passes from the scrum were the feature of the game, and he continually set his three quarters going.

Slater the Navy inside was inclined to try to do too much on his own, and threw away a lot of chances by not passing to St. Clair Ford. However he scored the first try from a good pass from Miers. Linton was unable to convert. The only other try in the initial half was scored by Dingley who cut through and ran for the line well. The try was not converted and so half time came with the Navy leading by six points to nil.

In the second half the Navy's superior knowledge and training gave them three more tries. St. Clair Ford scored after ten minutes. Shaw converted.

ST. CLAIR FORD'S TRIES.

The Club had to re-arrange their three-quarters line owing to an injury to Hutchison. Lammer came into the centre until Hutchison had recovered, after which they reverted to their old positions.

Another try came through St. Clair Ford almost immediately after his first, but it was not converted. Ferguson almost scored for the Club, but was well tackled by Buckley just short of the line.

The final score for the Navy came from a line-out, the ball travelling to St. Clair Ford who finished a fine passing movement by scoring his third try. Linton added the extra points.

For the Club, Turner was always helpful to the forwards with his defensive kicking, and Hutchison tackled well. He is, however, a little too light, and was unfortunately to be injured.

In the scrum Cumming and Burch got through a great deal of work.

The Navy once again gave a great display, and will be a very difficult side to beat on their present form.

HOME RUGBY.

London, Nov. 25. Playing at Sunderland, Lancashire had a narrow victory over Durham in the County Rugby Championship by nine points to eight. Leicestershire were too good for Warwickshire, while the East Midlands swamped the North by 25-3, and Yorkshire beat Cheshire by 31-10.

Both Oxford and Cambridge were engaged; the former losing to Gloucester and the latter easily defeating the United Services at Portsmouth.

Blackheath had a comfortable win against the Harlequins. Scores: County Championship.

Durham 8 Lancashire 0 (At Sunderland)
Leicestershire 10 Warwickshire 8 (At Leicester)
North Midlands 4 East Midlands 25 (At Moseley)

"Spurs" Come A Cropper ARSENAL TAKE OVER THE LEAGUE LEADERSHIP

(By "The Pilgrim")

It was inevitable that the "Spurs" would crack up sooner or later but that they should do so before their own spectators was a big surprise.

Derby have a very consistent record behind them so far this season, and it is evident that apart from the fumbling of the White Hart Lane goal-keeper, Nichols, they had the mastery of the play.

Duncan, a comparative newcomer to the "Rams" front line, was mainly responsible for their win. Arsenal who had a difficult proposition before them at Huddersfield came through with flying colours to take their old place at the head of the League. Dunne, recently obtained from Sheffield United, headed the only goal of the match from a corner kick taken by Baslin. The home side were unfortunate not to share points when Mangall netted from a brilliant centre by Lumsden, the young Sunderland amateur, only to hear the whistle blown for an offside infringement.

Chelsea improved by dividing honours with Birmingham at Stamford Bridge. Barkas putting through his own goal, and Portsmouth showed renewed form at the expense of Manchester City.

West Ham faltered at Upton Park whilst Bury surprised by taking both points from Bradford. Queen of South obtained a useful brace at home whilst Rangers and Motherwell went further ahead, the latter gaining a typical home win by one goal.

THE CUP TIES

Remarkable Win For Sutton

Norwich might have gone far in the Cup if they had not had the misfortune to be drawn away to Crystal Palace who are on top of their form just now. The Canaries lost by three goals, despite a spirited second half resistance.

Dulwich Hamlet warded off defeat for another day by sharing four goals with their Newport visitors, credit attaching particularly to the home defenders Hugo and Robbins.

The ball flashed from a Rochdale man's foot into the net a second after the final whistle had blown in the Club's cup engagement at Sutton and the visitors thus found themselves eliminated at first round by the odd goal in three.

Kingstonians, amateur Cup holders, went down to Bristol City on their own ground by seven goals to one. They had the misfortune to lose two men through injuries after 20 minutes play.

LUCKY WIN FOR ST. ANDREW'S

REVIEW OF THE WEEK-END HOCKEY

By "Bully-Off"

St. Andrew's were lucky to win Mamak Points from the 12th. Battery yesterday afternoon.

In the second half of the game the Battery dominated play and but for repeated breaches of the offside rule by their left wing would undoubtedly have notched more goals. The Saints were without the services of E.P.H. White, while G. Lynn and R. Baldwin deputised for P. J. Barlow and M. Weill at right and left wing respectively.

The Saints had the better of the exchanges in the first half but their marksmanship was poor. They managed, however, to change over with a lead of one goal. In the second half, A. S. Bliss increased the Saint's lead, and before the final whistle Flowerdew got through on his own to score for the Battery.

The Radio 2nd. XI defeated the Medway 2nd. XI by three goals to two at Caroline Hill on Saturday. G. Singh (2) and Surjin Singh netted for the Radio and Ferris and Holmes for the Medway.

As was expected, there was little to choose between the Hongkong Ladies and St. Andrew's Ladies in their friendly encounter. At Sookumpo on Saturday, the Caer Clark Cup champions, winning by the only goal scored. M. Woolley played a great game in the centre for the Saints but did not receive sufficient support from her inside players. The H.K. Ladies scored in the closing stages through J. Churchill.

The H.K. Ladies "B" team, defeated the Club de Recrelo by five goals to one on the Marina Ground on Saturday. S. Adams (3) and M. Bishop (2) scored for Hongkong and C. Remedios for the Recrelo.

The "Y" Ladies, playing at King's Park on Saturday, beat the D.G.S. by four goals to one. O. Dalziel (2) and O. Brown (2) scored for the winners and S. West for the D.G.S.

A MIXED C.B.A. eleven, playing at King's Park on Saturday, lost to H.M.S. Cumberland by one goal to nil.

The following will represent the Radio Sports Club in a friendly hockey match against the Lincolnshire Regiment at Caroline Hill this afternoon at 4.45 p.m. — Man: Singh, P. Singh, J. S.

Grewal; Jaggeet Singh, C. J. Dyke, M. Singh; Attar Singh, G. Singh, Awtar Singh, M. H. Hassan and F. A. Kemp (Captain).

The same team will play against the Royal Engineers at Sookumpo to-morrow at 5 p.m.

New Mixed Doubles Title Holders

L. GOLDMAN AND MRS. LOCHNER

L. Goldman and Mrs. Lochner won the open mixed doubles championship of the Colony, when at the C.R.C. "At Home" on Saturday they defeated the holders, M. W. Lo and Mrs. Litton in the final by 7-5, 7-5.

Lo was suffering from the effect of a severe chill and his play was consequently affected. But Goldman and Mrs. Lochner deserved their success as a better combination.

Mrs. Lochner was particularly reliable, whilst Mrs. Litton was prominent with her forehand driving. Afterwards the league championship and C.R.C. club championship awards were distributed by Lady Peel.

Among those present were H.E. the Governor (Sir William Peel), His Honour Mr. Justice R.E. Lindell (President of the H. K. L. T. A.) and Mr. M. K. Lo (Vice-President H. K. L. T. A.)

THE HONG KONG JOCKEY CLUB.

I.R.C. CRICKETERS IN GREAT FORM

PEREIRA AND RUMJAHN

That the Indian Recreation Club will figure very prominently this year in the race for cricket league honours was promised on Saturday, when their teams gained handsome and convincing successes in both divisions.

For the seniors, A. H. Rumjahn touched some of his best form in compiling 68, whilst F. Pereira, the Interceptor, completely demoralised Craigengower with his fast deliveries.

Here are the leading performances of the day:

YOUR CHILD'S HEALTH

Normal healthy children are active and happy. When a child is fretful, does not want to play and refuses to eat, it is often a sign that the system is out of order.

Try CASTORIA! It is especially made for children's ailments. It quickly and gently stimulates the sensitive bowels, corrects upset stomach and aids digestion. It tastes good and may be given safely to the smallest baby.

CINEMA SCREENINGS

NOTES SUPPLIED BY THE THEATRES

Loretta Young, winsome young blonde star, is one of the busiest girls in Hollywood. During her six years in pictures, she has made an average of nine productions, each year giving her a record total that surpasses that of many old timers who have been appearing in films for two decades. When it is considered that the average production these days takes at least a month, it can be seen that most of Miss Young's spare time between pictures is occupied with fittings and other preparations for her next picture. In recent months, she has made three pictures in a row, going directly from one to another. After "Zoo in Budapest", she made "Lady of the Night", and has just finished co-starring with Victor Jory in "The Devil in Love", Fox film production, now at the King's Theatre. On completion of this picture, she noted herself an extended holiday, her first real one since she started to make a name for herself in movies.

"Storm at Daybreak"

Starting with a breath-taking spectacle of the world-shocking assassination of the Archduke Ferdinand of Austria in Sarajevo just before the outbreak of the World War, and ending with an even more breath-taking climax in which a husband settles the fate of his wife and the man whom she loves by driving himself to death over an embarkment, "Storm at Daybreak," which was shown for the first time yesterday at the Queen's, proved to be one of those rare photoplays in which every reel is permeated with suspense, excitement and smash-drama. Acted to perfection by a cast which includes such film headlines as Kay Francis, Nila Asther, Walter Huston and Philipa Holmes, and filmed under the direction of Richard Boleslavsky, the man who made "Rasputin and the Empress," this new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer offering is a composite of all the romantic and dramatic ingredients which round up to furnish an all-sustaining evening of talkie entertainment. The story deals with Dusan, a wealthy Hungarian, who secretly grieves because the wife he adores, much younger than he, admires but does not really love him. Dusan is saved from injury at the hands of a mob when the Archduke Ferdinand is assassinated at Sarajevo, through the aid of the dashing young cavalry officer, Geza, coming later to Dusan's home in search of deserters from the army meets and falls in love with Dusan's beautiful wife, Irina. Geza's loyalty to his friend and Irina's to her husband prevent the fruition of their loves and it is only when Geza is placed in danger by an avenging traitor that the truth comes out. Dusan, seeking only the happiness of his wife, brings an end to the conflict in the stirring climax. The love scenes between Miss Francis and the romantic Asther are something to talk about, and the ever to be relied upon Huston contributes another magnificent performance as the husband. The picture is also benefited by the work in supporting roles of Philipa Holmes, Eugene Palette, C. Henry Gordon, Louise Closser Hale and Jenn Parker.

"The Rebel"

When Vilma Banky, who triumphantly returns to the screen as Lulu Trenker's leading lady in "The Rebel", coming to the King's Theatre on Wednesday, arrived in the United States several years ago, she was, although quite charming, enough to delight hard-boiled New Yorkers, about as much American as Mussolini! But just as surely as "the Hungarian khapsody" is coming back to her countless fans, so has she also arrived at a complete naturalization in the land of her adoption. To begin with, she is married to an American, Rod LaRocque who, despite his Gallic name, is as American as they make them. They have been married five years and form one of Hollywood's favorite pictures of happy married life. When she was rushed over to America to make her screen debut with Ronald Colman in "The Dark Angel", Miss Banky's quaint version of English, as much as her striking blonde beauty, formed the subject of much comment. But by sheer hard work, which involved intensive reading, study and practice, she succeeded in learning to speak English expertly and fluently as the best out of Boston. Naturally there is still the ghost of an accent but it only succeeds in adding to her charm. Following her marriage to LaRocque, Miss Banky has named her screen career in favour of domesticity. But idleness irked her; so when the versatile (forced) the leading feminine role in "The Rebel", she decided to make a comeback and, according to advance reports, succeeds marvellously.

GAOL NOT NOW CONGESTED

BANISHEE GOES BACK AGAIN

"The Gaol is not congested now, and so I ask for the full penalty," said Inspector Vincent before Mr. Balfour at the Central Police Court this morning when he charged Wong Hin with returning from banishment.

Inspector Vincent:—This man was sentenced to six months in July, but owing to the congestion in the Gaol he only did three months.

Sentence of one year's hard labour was passed.

Before Mr. Hamilton, Leung

YALE PROFESSOR JOINS IN DEFENCE

Following the attacks by Professor Sprague, the Harvard expert, Professor Irving Fisher, noted Yale economist, has come out in defence of the Roosevelt administration's gold purchasing policy, declaring that it alone must not be held as the chief and only cause of the present period of uncertainty.

"Much has been said regarding the deterring effect of the gold policy on business and the price level," Fisher said in a statement to the United Press.

"The truth is, however, that before the policy began both business and the price level were fast going downhill, while since they have held their own and even improved slightly.

MUST NOT CONFUSE.

"We must not confuse the effects of the gold policy and the effects of other policies, such as the NRA, which temporarily has had a depressing effect on business and prices, because it requires higher costs before there is any return.

"We must also distinguish between price raising by monetary means, which is a right use of power, and raising prices by destroying cotton, hogs and other wealth.
The latter will reduce the national

U.S. ADMIRAL'S VISIT

Admiral F. B. Upham, C-in-C. of the U.S. Asiatic Fleet, arrived here yesterday afternoon aboard the U.S.S. Isobel from Canton.
Shortly after arrival he transferred to his flagship, U.S.S. Augusta.

At 8 a.m. to-day the Augusta fired a salute of 21 guns which was replied to from Blackheads Fort. This was followed by a salute for the C-in-C. of the China Squadron, His Excellency Admiral
Sir Frederic C. Dreyer, K.C.B., C.B.E. The reply salute was fired from H.M.S. Suffolk.

Admiral Upham, accompanied by Capt. J. B. Agen, U. S. Navy,
Lieut. Cmdr. C. J. Moore and Mr.
Douglas Jenkin, Consul General for the United States, arrived at Government House at 10.54 this morning to pay an official call on His Excellency the Governor, Sir William Peel. He was received by a Guard of Honour from the 1st Bn. South Wales Borderers under Lieut. J. Jordan.

At 11.15 a.m. the Admiral paid an official call on His Excellency the G.O.C., Major General O. C.
Borrett, at Flagstaff House, where he was met by a Guard of Honour under Major H. St. G. Thoyts.

His Excellency the Governor and H. E. the G. O. C. later returned the calls.
